The Chronicle of the Horse

Also one sees a great deal of tack that can only be painful to the horses that wear it — badly fitting saddles that make sore withers and shoulders, badly adjusted bridles and girths that make sore mouths and girth galls, bits and spurs reminiscent of the Spanish Inquisition.

Finally there are the bad riders, the people who jab their horses in the mouth, who sit back and land on their kidneys, who override their trusting and willing servants.

Obviously the great majority of Chronicle readers do not belong in any of the above categories. Why, then, discuss them? The answer is that those of us who know have a grave responsibility toward those who do not know and particularly toward their horses. Far too many accomplished horsemen and women are so busy schooling and competing that they pay little or no attention to those who have not had the opportunity to learn. To be indifferent to their ignorance is perhaps understandable, but to be indifferent to the sufferings of their horses and ponies is inexcusable.

Interesting

Dear Sir:

In recent numbers of "The Chronicle of the Horse" I have found articles of especial personal interest to me.

As a veteran horse show judge of the long ago I thought Green Hornet's "How Not To Judge At Horse Shows" splendid. (April 14th number)

The article in the March 17th number by Brig. Barrington was also especially interesting, not only because I have seen Lt. Gutierrez make many spectacular jumps on "Froth-Blower" but also because in the era before heights were officially recorded I was present at the Syracuse Horse Show in 1918 when Dick Donnelly jumped 2.45 m. (8 ft. 2 in.). I am enclosing an article — or rather comments — on this event which were published here in "Il Cavallo Italiano" in the Nov-Dec, 1957 number, together with the photograph autographed by Dick Donnelly himself. As I say in my accompanying comments although there were no official records

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSE IN THE SADDLE

A fortnight ago under the heading "The Backyard Horse" we commented on the tremendous increase in the number of horse and pony owners in this country and Canada since World War II, and on the depressing fact that an altogether too large percentage of these first time owners neglect to inform themselves about the basic facts of horse care. A second equally depressing group, although fortunately not so large numerically, consists of those who treat their mounts with tender care when off their backs, but abuse them when in the saddle.

Obviously the greater part of this abuse is unintentional — we are not now concerned with poling jumpers or "soreing" walking horses. Most of it is also unexpected. Some of the worst offenders, as a matter of fact, are those with ample rather than modest means — cruelty in the saddle comes with white board fences and elaborate tack rooms just as much as with pole corrals and converted chicken houses.

There are several types. Most difficult to deal with are the people who have no idea of what a horse can do or what he cannot do — who try to put him in gear and operate him like an automobile. As far as they know he can gallop indefinitely at any speed on any surface, climb a mountain, slide down a precipice, or wade through a swamp.

Next in line are those with some glimmerings of a horse's capabilities, but with little understanding of how to prepare him for the task in question — how to feed, groom, exercise and train. Asking a horse to do the impossible for lack of preparation is cruel indeed, whether it be to negotiate 50 miles of trail or to jump an unreasonably big fence.

Another classification, larger than one would suppose, are the riders who are ignorant of how to start and stop — who don't know that a horse has to be warmed up gradually before he is ready to work, and that he has to be cooled out gradually before it is safe to let him stand tied or to put him away in the stable.

Benevolent Delaware

Raleigh Burroughs

Old Judge Brawner used to say, "The most satisfactory form of government is the benevolent monarchy. A majority of the people don't have sense enough to elect their own rulers. A quick glance at the ones elected is ample proof of this.

"With a kind king running things he can give his subjects what is good for them, not what some windy office-seeker says they ought to have. He can keep down taxes by hand-picking his administrative officers; and his own employees must stay in line or get pitched out.

"He can protect his people from racketeers, and entertain them at the same time, by executing murderers, thieves and Sabbath breakers in the public square. And he doesn't have to fight his way through a bunch of bondsmen and barristers to get a conviction on known criminals.

"Another point: under a sympathetic sovereign, we wouldn't have any problem with bookmakers like the one that's always worrying Senator Kefauver and the cops. Of course, there wouldn't BE any Senator Kefauver, and that would leave more money to pay the cops, so they wouldn't have to be putting their hands out to the bookies.

Lower Taxes

"Anyway, the bookie situation would be straightened out to the satisfaction of everyone. The bet-takers would be required to give track odds, and, if the king (or a pub keeper) wanted to make a fat show bet, they'd have to take it and no bellyaching. It is possible that there would be tremendous tax reductions if the keeper of the exchequer happened to be a smart handicapper.

"Naturally, a bookie that welshed would lose his license and be thrown into the donjon. (That's the old way of spelling it, which seems more appropriate.)"

The Judge is pretty wise. Being the ruling officer in a dog track paddock for 20 years teaches a man a lot about human nature.

The old gent has to admit, though, that benevolent monarchies can't be guaranteed for more than one term, on account of the way some kings bring up their princes. Still he likes to dream about a land where there are no state legislators and no minor officers to bother free people.

The Kindly Course

Every time I go to Delaware Park, I think of Judge Brawner and his benevolent monarchy. I get the feeling that, far up above somewhere, there is a benevolent duPont looking down lovingly on the customers and making sure that every program goes off in a manner pleasing to all.

There is a relaxed atmosphere about the place that is soaked up by the patrons and exuded from their perspiring (excepted in the air-conditioned areas) persons, infecting other clients with the same mellowness.

Up to now, even the duPonts haven't been able to control the weather, but, in all probability, it is on the drawing boards.

For the time being however, there are occasions when the track is "off", and sometimes in July, the days are hot. To give relief from torrid temperatures, the benevolent management has provided trees in abundance, and the paddock is a pleasant place to pause.

Those who are up on pedigrees of scientific developments tell us that the wash-and-wear suit traces tail male to the duPonts. That bit of benevolence gives summer comfort to ALL people, not just those who patronize Delaware Park, which really is spreading benevolence around.

Another kindness that Delaware shows on its people is eight-race cards. Persons of great wealth long ago learned that, if you can't get even in eight, you can't get even in nine.

Financial Advice

For many years, the track got along without the daily double. Heads of billion-dollar corporations generally are pretty smart guys, and after trying to beat the double for a few seasons, they found they couldn't make money that way. It is a credo of the Turf that heads of billion-dollar corporations do not put money into ventures that don't make more money or provide a world of fun.

As it is no fun picking losing doubles, the Delaware management tossed out the twin wager.

Aqueduct

Only four starters appeared for the 3rd running of The Gravesend, a six furlongs sprint for 3-year-olds and upward, with a $20,000 added purse, at Aqueduct on Wed., July 24. The race enabled each starter to count on a part of the purse and no show mutuels were sold on the race.

The favorite was P. Godfrey's home-bred Bolinas Boy, who went into the race undefeated; the 3-year-old colt was hailed as a potential champion last year when he was sidelined by an injury after two straight victories. I. Valenzuela rode him to a length victory, his fourth and the first one of stakes caliber. W. Ewing's Four Lane was second; Chief of Chiefs, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, third; and Jagma Stable's Gyro fourth. The time was 1.09 2/5 for the 6 furlongs.

Bolinas Boy is a bay colt, by Nantallah-Elude, by Revoked, trained by S. R. Shapoff. The winner collected $14,072.50.

Man o'War Handicap

Six handicap runners turned out for the one and five-eighths miles Man o'War Handicap, run over the turf course on Sat., July 28. For three-year-olds and upwards, it carried a purse of $100,000 added.

Harbor View Farm's *Wolftram, carrying 132 pounds, was the odds-on favorite. The lightweight in the race was M. Ritzenberg's Wise Ship, in at 108 pounds. Wise Ship, H. Gustines up, won the race, finishing two and three-quarters lengths in front of B. Ferrari's Harmonizing. L. J. Krakower's Geechee Lou was third and Harbor View Farm's *Wolftram fourth. The soft turf course and the 132 pounds impost tired out *Wolftram who was unable to reach the leaders and dropped back after the first quarter mile. The winner's time for the 1 5/8 miles was 2.50 2/5.

Wise Ship is a 4-year-old bay gelding, by Sky Ship-Worldly Wise, by Bimelech, bred by North Hill Farm (M. Ritzenberg) of Berryville, Va. J. Byers trains the gelding and the $65,000 net collected by the winner was the biggest payday of his career.

Delaware Park

The feature race at Delaware Park on Wed., July 26, was the 4th running of The Caesar Rodney, a five and one-half furlongs run for 2-year-old colts and geldings, with a $10,000 added value.

Jockey B. Thornburg rode Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' Post Exchange to a clear-cut one and one half lengths triumph over Brandywine Stable's Greek Money. Sidney C. Gray's Princegret finished third. The favorite, Mrs. Ada Stern's Bounding Over came in fourth in the field of ten. The clockers checked in the winner at 1.06 3/5 for the 5 1/2 furlongs, over a fast track.

Post Exchange is a bay colt, by Post Card-Artistic, by *Daumier, bred by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jeffords. O. White is the trainer. It was the colt's fourth victory in seven starts and his first stakes winning effort. He collected $8,100 for the score.

The Delaware Handicap

The big race on Sat., July 28, was the 24th running of The Delaware Handicap, a mile and one-quarter race with a $120,000 added value. For fillies and mares, 3-year-olds and upward, it flushed out a field of twelve.

Hugh A. Grant's Airman's Guide went into the race a favorite and delivered the money to her backers. Jockey Howie Grant rode the Grant color-bearer to a commanding three and one-half lengths victory over W. B. MacDonald, Jr.'s Royal Native. Mrs. Connie Ring's Tritoma was third and Ogden Phipps' Sarcastic fourth. Airman's Guide ran the 1 1/4 miles in 2.02 2/5 over a good track.

The winner is a bay filly, four years old, by One Count-Navigating, by Hard Tack, bred by W. P. Little. B. B. Williams trained Airman's Guide for the $104,687.50 victory. It boosted her career earnings to $242,068.

Monmouth

Monmouth Park staged the 6th running of the $50,000 added Sorority on Sat., July 28. The race was for 2-year-old fillies at six furlongs. Eight young ladies made up the field.

Wheatley Stable's Batter Up, H. Woodhouse up, withstood a claim of foul by M. Ycaza, the rider of the place filly, Woodvale Farm's Polylady. The alleged interference in the stretch drive was discounted and the two and three-quarters lengths victory was made official. Mrs. S. B. Wilson's Laurel Mae was third and Calumet Farm's Giggles fourth. The time for the six furlongs was 1.12.

Batter Up is a dark bay daughter of Tom Fool-Striking, by War Admiral, bred by her owner, Wheatley Stable. J. Fitzsimmons trains the filly and the effort netted $60,000.

The Chronicle of the Horse

Hollywood Park

A field of thirteen vied for the big share of the $75,000 added money in the 20th running of The Sunset Handicap at Hollywood Park, on Monday, July 24. For 3-year-olds and upwards, it required a run of one and five-eighths miles.

High Tide Stable's favored Whodunit, M. Ycaza up, wore down the leaders and drew away to win by three and three-quarters lengths over Mrs. C. M. Ring's Dress Up, who finished a nose better than Kerr Stable's Prince Blessed. The fourth horse was Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Elmore's *Sirri II. The winning time for the 1 5/8 miles was 2.39.

Whodunit is a 6-year-old bay horse, by *Princequillo-Who Dini, by *Hypnotist II, bred by Mrs. J. Burke. W. C. Winfrey trains him and the take was $52,800.

OTHER STAKES

MISS ILLINOIS STAKES, Arlington Park, Mon., July 24, 6 furlongs, 2-year-old fillies. R. Nono rode Island Belle to victory in this one over S. Hernandez on Oil Date. B. Phelps was on the show filly, Unique Roman. As is customary in a closed stakes for state-breds, the field was large, 16 to be exact.

The winner is a bay filly, by Huesco, a Roman horse, out of Batavia Belle, by Spy Song, bred by John E. Hughes. Island Belle ran the six furlongs in 1.12 1/5 and collected $20,250 for her victory over Illinois-bred fillies.

THE OCEANSIDE HANDICAP, Del Mar, Calif., Sat., July 29, three-year-olds, 6 furlongs, $15,000 added. Jockey R. White rode Shelbyville to win this one over Fun House. R. Yanez up. R. Mundorf rode the show horse, We're Hoping.

Shelbyville is a chestnut colt, by Imbros-Bern Lass, by *Bernborough, bred by F. C. and C. H. Bishop. He ran the six furlongs in 1.09 and picked up a net of $8,900.

Arlington Park Futurity

Eight 2-year-olds, carrying level weights of 122 pounds, left the starting gate in the 32nd running of The Arlington Park Futurity on Sat., July 29. The six furlongs sprint was another of the many $100,000 races.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan went into the race as a prohibitive odds-on favorite, ridden by W. Hartack, and showed impressive speed to defeat the second choice of the bettors, Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, by five and one half lengths. Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage was third and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Herff's Obey took home the small share of the purse. Ridan ran the 6 furlongs in 1.09 over a fast track.

The winner is a bay colt, by Nantallah-*Rough Shot II, by Gold Bridge, bred by T. M. Girdler and trained by L. Jolley. The total value of the race was $211,750 and Ridan got $127,050 of the stakes money.

Right Royal Champion of Europe

Peter Towers-Clark

Carrying £23,090 to the winner, the eleventh running of England's richest all-age race, the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes over a mile and a half at Ascot, attracted this year the smallest field in its history. But the paucity of runners did nothing to detract from its interest.

Fittingly, it could fairly be viewed as the championship of Europe, for it brought together last year's English Derby and St. Leger winner St. Paddy, unquestionably the best horse of any age in Britain, and the brilliant French three-year-old Right Royal, owned by Madame Couturie and trained by Etienne Pollet, who made no attempt to hide the fact that he considered him the best horse since Nearco.

Last season there was some doubt as to whether St. Paddy was a good horse or just the greatly superior best of a poor bunch. In winning his three previous races this year, Sir Victor Sassoon's four-year-old had shown himself unquestionably to be a good horse. By his victory in the 1 1/4 miles Eclipse Stakes on the previous Saturday, which he had won on a tight rein in one-fifth of a second below the previous course record, St. Paddy had sent a lot of people away from Sandown Park convinced that he was a great one.

But he certainly had a formidable rival in Right Royal, a son of the English Derby winner Owen Tudor, now retired from stud. The winner of all but one of his four starts at two including the Grand Criterium, Right Royal had been placed top of the French Free Handicap. After an unfortunate start when he had undeservedly been beaten by his stable companion first time out, he had then successively won with contemptuous ease the French Guineas, the Prix Lupin and the French Derby. It was after this last victory that his connections decided to take on St. Paddy at Ascot rather than go for the Grand Prix de Saint Cloud at home.

The Big Two so dominated the race that the bookmakers took odds of 5-4 on St. Paddy with Right Royal at 6-4 against an offered 20-1 against the other two runners, though each had a formidable reputation. The four-year-old Apostle, who had run St. Paddy to a neck at level weights in the previous year, was unbeaten in his four starts this season, whilst the field was completed by Rockavon, out to prove that his shock victory in the Guineas was no fluke. Under the weight for age scale, the two four-year-olds conceded 14 lb. to the younger horses.

The track had been extensively watered over the recent dry spell, so that with some heavy rain falling in the previous week and on the afternoon of the race, it was riding fairly soft. With no pacemaker, St. Paddy was likely to have to make his own running and it seemed sure that these conditions would be in favor of the younger horses with 14 lb. less in the saddle. When Right Royal appeared in the parade ring, a magnificent horse that already has the physical development of a four-year-old, it became evident just what a task St. Paddy had. Indeed, it proved to be an impossible one.

Piggott at once took St. Paddy into the lead, with Poincelet tracking him a length and a half away, and the other two together behind, but he did not set the fast gallop that he had at Sandown. Turning into the short straight there was no change in the order, but soon after the quarter mile marker Poincelet moved Right Royal up.

It was now that we all expected to see a thrilling race, but it proved to be no race at all. In a hundred yards St. Paddy was done with and Right Royal drew triumphantly away to win by three lengths, with Rockavon a further four lengths away third.

Even allowing for the patchy ground - which after all was the same for all - and the fact that he had had to make the running, the extent to which St. Paddy was humbled was almost unbelievable. Whilst I doubt that he ran quite up to his former form, there is no doubt that Right Royal could have beaten him at any distance with ease. Unhesitatingly I class the French colt in the same category as the peerless *Ribot.

KEENELAND SALES

The 18th Annual Keeneland Summer Sales broke all existing records for a yearling auction. A total of 298 head fetched $4,225,000 for an average $14,177.

John M. Olin of New York paid a world record price of $130,000 for a chestnut colt by Swaps-Obedient, by *Mahmoud out of the Leslie Combs II consignment. Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid a new record price for a filly - by Nashua-Beau Jet, by Jet Pilot, which was also in the Leslie Combs II consignment. Mr. Combs topped his own record of the highest averaged consignment, by selling ten yearlings for an average of $51,150. Other records were established, and no doubt, the market analysts will come up with a whole host of firsts when they compile their book on the 1961 Keeneland Summer Sales of yearlings.

The high averages should create plenty of interest in racing during 1962, when trainers will be handling the most expensive Thoroughbreds in history and the two dollar bettor will be putting his money on his own choice, which in many cases will be a youngster that started out with a very small price tag.

The appraising of yearlings is still about the biggest gamble known to man and it is one of the factors that makes racing such a fascinating sport.

Summaries of the sales appear elsewhere in The Chronicle of the Horse. M.R.

VARIETY AT THE RACE TRACK

If somebody could tell me the inherent virtue in running races on the turf instead of on the regular dirt course, I'd be most grateful. Turf courses get full of holes, the grass is uneven, the courses can be used only for a limited number of races per season, and the surface cannot possibly be kept even approximately the same from day to day.

Yet at track after track, there is much whooping and hollering about how many grass races they have scheduled.

The reason is not that the races are run on grass. The reason is that they represent something different. Anything to relieve looking at nine or ten or eleven or eighteen six-furlongs races a day is a relief.

Why doesn't somebody try running races clockwise one race a day or one day a week or something? You cannot tell me horses won't run just as well one way as another. Look at the way they do abroad. Some courses go one way and some another and some don't go in any perceptible way at all.

CASEY HAYES

J. H. (Casey) Hayes, trainer for C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable of Doswell, Va., was recently elected president of the New York Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association. Mr. Hayes defeated Max Gluck, owner of Elmendorf Farm, Lexington, Ky. in the balloting. Ron Mooney is secretary-treasurer of the local division. In addition to Mr. Hayes there were also elected for two-year terms the following directors: - Owners - F. Eugene Dixon, Jr., Frank C. Rand, Jr., Gerard S. Smith, Reginald N. Webster and Louis E. Wolfson. Trainers - James E. Fitzsimmons, Howard Jacobson, John C. Lawrence, Edward A. Nely and Edward M. O'Brien. Sidney M. Barton and Colin MacLeod Jr. are first alternates to the directorate.

Here is the tranquilizer horsemen have wished for—Promazine in easy-to-give granular form. You simply put a few container-capfuls into an amount of grain or ground feed that will readily be eaten. Within an hour or so the unruly, nervous animal becomes relaxed and tractable—though retaining its coordination and awareness of environment. Duration of the drug's action varies with dosage, but usually continues for 4 to 6 hours. The granular form offers a definite advantage in that handling of the animal for injection is eliminated. There is no excitation as Promazine granules go to work. Follow complete directions as printed on the package.

MERVYN LEROY

The California Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association recently presented a plaque at a testimonial dinner dance to Mervyn LeRoy, president of Hollywood Park for 10 years, a member of its Board of Directors for 20, and owner and breeder of Thoroughbreds for over a quarter of a century. Mr. LeRoy's father was president of the old Emeryville track at Oakland, California.

THE CURRAGH OF KILDARE

Under a proposed Bill the Irish Minister of Defence will become the sole owner of the about 6,000 acres of the Curragh of Kildare. At present he has vested in him the 700 acres of the Training Camp for military personnel. Because of their military importance the Curragh plains have had a unique existence and their management and use have been controlled by Statutes, the Curragh of Kildare Act, 1868 and the Curragh of Kildare Act, 1870. This area, which extends for about 6 miles and at its widest part is 2 miles, is famous for Military activities; as the center of Irish racing; and for the grazing of thousands of sheep, which will henceforth be confined to a planned fenced area.

Curragh Camp was first established as a military establishment during the Crimean War of 1854, but "goes back" to the time when it was a public burial ground; later, it was the training ground for many of the armies which fought in Ireland during the past 500 years. Fionn Mac Cumhaill, an almost legendary character, was born at the Bog of Allen in Curragh territory. It is said that the famous Patrick Sarsfield, Earl of Lucan, served there before 1689. The Camp was handed over to the new Irish Republic by the Crown Forces in 1922.

The first PRINTED record of racing at the Curragh appears in 1791, but there was organized racing there from the eleventh century on, and probably long before that. In 1696 the Government gave two Plates of 100 pounds each year "to be run at the races" in an effort to encourage horse breeding in Ireland.

The Curragh has many sad and historic memories. One is associated with Gibbet Rath, on the south side of the road leading to the east gate of the Camp which recalls a tragic incident: After the Insurrection of 1798 a free Pardon was proclaimed for all insurgents who laid down their arms and several hundreds did so. They were immediately fired on by the Yeomanry and most of them perished. Today, local gossip has this spot as "haunted", and I can verify the fact that no horse will pass the stone marking this tragedy willingly. I know of two trainers who tried!

FENTON FARM

Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth J. Edwards
Warrenton, Virginia

"One of our brood mares had tetanus (and) our veterinarian recommended VIONATE-L. The whole point of this letter is to tell you of the tremendous job VIONATE-L has done for us."

Miss Joan G. Emshoff
Culebra Farm, Houston, Texas

Culebra Farm's Quarter Horse brood mare, Babe Harrison, and her 38-day-old colt.

WE AT SQUIBB are mighty proud of Miss Emshoff's letter about Vionate-L—the vitamin and mineral supplement developed by the Squibb Research Institute especially for horses. In fact, we feel the letter deserves to be quoted practically in full:

"...one of our Quarter Horse brood mares ...had tetanus...during the 7th month of pregnancy. She went through many days of muscular contractions...hard falls and great amounts of medication.

"Our veterinarian...recommended Vionate-L and throughout recuperation we used it to help supply needed strength—during the balance of pregnancy, to aid the unborn foal in gaining time lost due to illness and medication.

"We feel it a miracle that the mare survived, and even more miraculous that her colt was born completely free of defects ...The whole point of this letter is to tell you of the tremendous job Vionate-L has done for us..."

EVERY DAY, more and more horsemen and women are learning—from their veterinarians or from reading their horse journals—just how beneficial Vionate-L really is for improving the health, vigor and appearance of horses of all ages and breeds.

BROOD MARES, for example, need Vionate-L because it contains the scientifically correct quantities of bone-building calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D. Lacking even one of these, a mare cannot produce a straight, rickets-free foal and protect her own body resources for future breeding. Vionate-L helps foals grow fast with well-formed skull, spine, ribs and joints... helps prevent sprains, spavins, splints, enlarged joints and other bone disorders in mature horses.

Vionate and Palatized are Squibb trademarks

RUNNERS, TROTTERS AND JUMPERS need Vionate-L because it contains the 9 vitamins and 9 minerals they need for peak performance. Vionate-L helps them develop stamina and endurance...strong fatigue-resistant muscles...rich red blood...helps them build up the "reservoir of power" they need for sudden spurts of speed. Vionate-L aids muscular coordination, helps keep coats gleaming, helps horses fight disease and recover from sickness fast.

VIONATE-L is ...

PELLETIZED FOR EASY USE. Simply mix with feed once each day. Horses will not snort it away.

"PALATIZED"® FOR BETTER TASTE with apple and molasses. Horses enjoy the taste and crunchiness.

ECONOMICAL. A 2-lb. canister lasts 1 horse 1 to 2 months; a 5-lb. canister, 2½ to 5 months.

DO YOU HAVE SQUIBB'S BOOKLET ON EQUINE NUTRITION?

It's a factual, authoritative, much-needed report on a subject of vital concern to every horseman. For your free copy, write: SQUIBB, Veterinary Department, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.

NATIONAL

DISTAFF LINES AT SARATOGA

The 41st annual Saratoga Yearling Sales to be held August 7th through the 11th at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. catalogues an impressive list of dams who are stakes winners, stakes producers or both.

The only filly by *Turn-to to be offered during the week-long vendue at the Spa is from Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hardin's Newstead Farm consignment. This filly is out of the good stakes producing matron, Legendra whose winning foals include the two outstanding stakes winning fillies Hasty Doll and Rich Tradition and the stakes winning colt Sky Clipper.

From Keswick Stables' consignment will come a brown filly by Reneged from Highland Fling, thus a half-sister to the outstanding stakes winner Sword Dancer, leading 3-year-old of his year and Horse of the Year at 4.

A former Saratoga yearling was the stakes winner Restless Wind. This year

Mrs. Charles B. Lyman, as agent for Robert McLean, will sell a bay colt by *Royal Charger out of Lump Sugar, thus a half-brother to Restless Wind.

VIRGINIA

TRIPLE CREDIT

When Ted B. broke his maiden in the third race at Delaware Park on Monday, July 24, in a five and one-half furlongs maiden claiming race, Norman L. Haymaker added a triple credit to his name in the chart of the race. Mr. Haymaker, a well known judge of show hunters and jumpers, is the owner-trainer-breeder of Ted B.

The winner is a brown 2-year-old gelding, by Repand, a Johnstown horse, out of Ready Made, by Dr. Freeland. Repand is the home stallion at Mr. Haymaker's Clifton Farm, Berryville, Va., and sired two foals of 1959, both owned by the popular horse show judge. M.R.

NEW OWNER-BREEDER

When W. H. "Bill" Ballenger's Street Fighting won the second race at Delaware Park on Tuesday, July 25, he put a new owner-breeder into the racing picture. Mr. Ballenger is the farm manager for Brookmeade Farms, Upperville, Va.

Street Fighting is a dark bay gelding, by More Sun-Malcontent, by Star Beacon. It was his first start and he returned thirteen to one to his backers. C. E. Verts saddled the 2-year-old for the 5 1/2 furlongs special weight race.

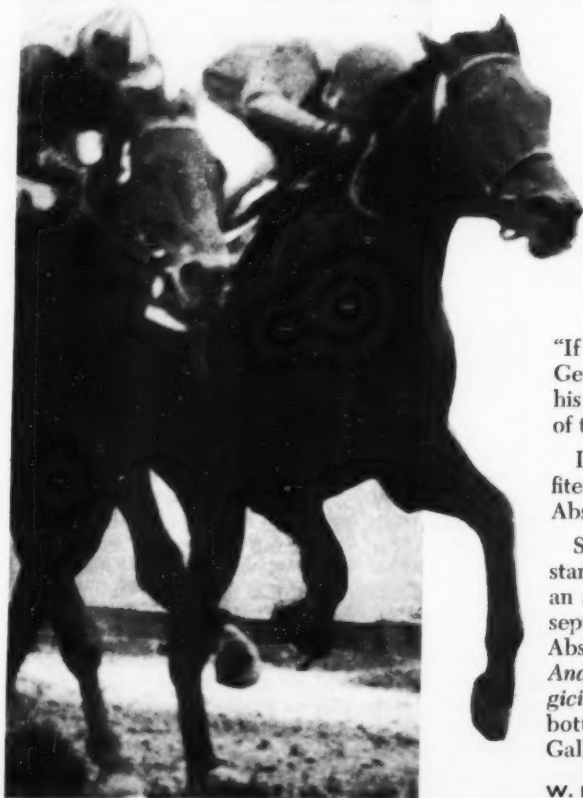

The genial farm manager of Mrs. Dodge Sloane's establishment is now receiving plaudits and good natured ribbing on becoming a racing tycoon from followers of Virginia Thoroughbred breeding and racing. M.R.

KENTUCKY

BENJAMIN'S PRINCIPAL WINS AGAIN

Edward B. Benjamin's two-year-old Principal scored for the third time when taking the six furlongs Wigston Plate against nine rivals at Leicester. Ridden by champion jockey Lester Piggott, he moved through smoothly to score by three-quarters of a length.

Bred by his owner in Kentucky, Principal is a bay colt by Primate from the *Princequillo mare Simona. P.T.-C.

Iron Liege beating one of the best fields in Derby history

H. A. "Jimmy" Jones' Greatest Moment in Racing

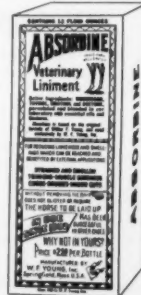

"Iron Liege's victory in the Kentucky Derby of 1957"

"If you recall," says Calumet Farm trainer, Jimmy Jones, "our Gen. Duke was coming up to the race a red-hot favorite after his triumph in the Florida Derby, but was injured on the eve of the race. So we ran Iron Liege and won a real thriller."

Iron Liege is just one of many stakes horses who have benefited from daily Absorbine care. Mr. Jones goes on to say, "I use Absorbine to tighten up and cool out the legs of all our string."

Since 1892, a bottle of Absorbine has been standard equipment in the best stables, as an astringent, conditioner, and gentle antiseptic. Used either full strength or in a wash, Absorbine is consistently effective, yet safe. And no other liniment has Absorbine's fungicidal properties. The large, long-lasting bottle is still only $2.50 at any druggist. Gallon size also available.

AMERICAN ALL ALONG THE LINE

Owned by one American, bred by another, sired by an American stallion and got from an American-bred mare. That is the record of the three-year-old Vigrisch, now running in England. The only 'odd man out' when he won at Alexandra Park on him was Australian Scobie Breasley, who brought Vigrisch up in the stretch to get up in the last stride.

Bred by American expatriate Laudy Lawrence, Vigrisch is owned by Mr. J. Straus, being by the *Bernborough horse Hook Money from the Nirgal mare Meadow Song, who is a diminutive half-sister to the late Robert S. Clark's Derby and St Leger winner Never Say Die. P.T.C.

ON TO SARATOGA

Saratoga consignors and their well-wishers are keeping their fingers crossed not only because of the disturbance caused by labor organizers, but also by the figures of the record breaking Keeneland Sales. The interesting question is, "How much of the yearling purchasing money is left?" M.R.

CALIFORNIA

ELLSWORTH WINS

CALIFORNIA BROODMARE AWARD

Rex Ellsworth, for the fourth time in seven years, has been awarded the trophy which goes to the owner of California's broodmare of the year.

This highly prized honor, given by the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association, goes to Ellsworth in 1961 for the possession of *Dama II, a mare he purchased out of the dispersal sale of stock belonging to the estate left by H. H. Aga Khan.

*Dama II received the award from a poll of the turf writers and TV and radio experts of this state conducted by the CTBA. Out of the thirty ballots cast, she received fifteen for first place, eight for second and three for third. Miss Larksfly was second in the voting, with Time To Khal third, Danae fourth and Date With June winding up in the fifth spot.

*Dama II has had a truly remarkable record as a producer since being brought to California in 1954. Being mated with *Khaled each year, she has produced Times Ace, Plenty Baby, Free Copy, Bushel-n-Peck and Eight Ball. The best of her get to date is, of course Bushel-n-Peck, but the others are all winners. This quintet has earned close to $200,000 up to present writing.

The yearly award to the owner of California's top broodmare was started by the CTBA in 1955. Ellsworth took it then with Iron Reward, dam of Swaps. He followed up in 1956 with Feather Time, dam of Season's Best, Bequeath, Candy Dish and Aunt Het. He won again in 1957 with Flying Choice, dam of Terrang.

The prize got away from him in 1958, 1959 and 1960. The winners for these years were respectively, Paradise, Honeymoon and War Whisk.

Each year the CTBA gives this award, a Sterling silver Chippendale tray, for the period from June 30 to the following June 30. Presentation ceremonies are held at Del Mar on Sunday, August 20, during the annual parade of yearlings prior to the CTBA Sales on Monday and Tuesday nights, August 21 and 22.

VALKYR TROPHY TO LINITA

Linita, by *Indian Hemp out of Our Cricket, has been awarded the Valkyr Trophy for the year 1960, it was announced today by the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association.

This consistent and often brilliant filly was bred by her present owners, Angelo and Herman Corradini of Los Angeles and George Dorney of Alhambra. She was foaled on March 25, 1957, at the Alberta Ranches of Riverside, California. She has been trained for all her engagements by the veteran ex-jockey Clyde Turk.

The Valkyr Trophy is an annual award made by the CTBA to the two or three-year-old California-bred filly who is judged to be the best of her division on points of outstanding "consistency with class" in competition on the racetracks. She must have placed in a stakes event during the specified calendar year, and must have started a minimum of six times for a two-year-old and eight times for a three-year-old.

The Valkyr is a revolving award and it only stays in the possession of the breeder of the winning filly until the next one is chosen. This trophy, donated to the CTBA by that grand sportswoman Mrs. Amory Hare Hutchinson in 1950, is a beautifully wrought Sheffield serving tray. The breeder also receives a handsome silver bowl for permanent possession.

Linita got her well-deserved recognition for her performances as a three-year-old last year. In 19 starts she won 5, was second on 4 occasions and twice ran third. Among her victories were the Del Mar Oaks and the Las Flores Handicap. She was second in the Goose Girl Stakes and third in the Hollywood Oaks. Her total 1960 earnings amounted to $52,300.

The presentation of the Valkyr Trophy will be made in the walking ring at Del Mar on Sunday morning, August 20, during the annual parade of yearlings which precedes the CTBA Del Mar Sales, to be held on Monday and Tuesday nights, August 21 and 22.

The Southern Hound Ancestor of the Foxhound

Evelyn Prescott

One of the most important early accounts of fox-hunting in England was written by Dr. Johannes Caius in 1570. This remarkable physician to Edward VI, Queen Mary, and Queen Elizabeth I, spent much of his life on research in natural history, and founded the college of his name at Cambridge. Author of numerous scientific works, he was responsible for the first book in England on dogs, written in Latin, and he is particularly famous (in the "dog-world") for his letter (1570) to the eminent Swiss naturalist, Conrad Gesner, which clarified many points he was planning to revise in his treatise "Of English Dogges, the diversities, the names, natures and the properties."

Though confusing in places, Dr. Caius' letter nevertheless makes it very clear that 16th century England considered the "Agasaeus," the gazehound, to be the Southern hound. And the Southern hound, most later writers agree, is the principal ancestor of the modern Fox-hound. 19th century writers also agree that this Southern hound was crossed with the Greyhound to make the fox-hound faster - a thought so unpalatable to 20th century writers that many ignore it altogether, or qualify it by insisting that it must have been a very different Greyhound from the modern animal - and here they are right. Nineteenth century writers were usually thinking of the "modern" Greyhound when they wrote of this cross, and therefore jumped to the conclusion that the Southern Hound had been a heavy, cumbersome, slow creature, with an excellent nose - instead of the reverse.

Dr. Caius describes the Southern Hound as reasonably fast, since it could "excite the horses to greater speed", and a hound that depended far more on his eyes than his nose.

And it so happens that the one hound in England in the 16th century that could have been crossed with this Southern hound to give it a good nose, without decreasing the speed, was that ancient hound called the "Vertagus", which also carried the title "greyhound".

Some natural historians in the 19th century remembered this ancient greyhound, but very few of the sporting writers appear to have read Dr. Caius' letter; consequently, when they thought of greyhounds, they thought solely in terms of the "modern" greyhound; a type of hound known to Elizabethans as a "Leporarius". (Just as Latins used the word "Venatici" to cover dogs hunting birds as well as beasts, "Leporarius" was used to include any type of dog hunting rabbits, which historically causes more confusion; the English separated the "Vertagus" from the other Leporarius by virtue of their different methods of hunting.) This English Leporarius looked a bit like a larger "Vertagus", but hunted by strength and speed. Dr. Caius writes that they varied in size and quality, the larger ones hunting stags, the smaller ones hares and foxes. When dog-coursing gained in popularity during the 18th century, this English Leporarius was much improved by extensive importations from Greece and the Barbary coast, even from India. With the loss of interest in the purebred "Vertagus", it was natural for the now fashionable and better bred "Leporarius" to take the title "greyhound" as its name.

Dr. Caius put his greyhound (which we'll now have to call "ancient" greyhound in the group that "catch them by craft". According to him:

"The English Greyhound comes from "grey" because it is of the first grade of dogs and of the best breed. "Grey" in English - "Gradus"." (in Latin)

(Though many modern etymology books make no connection between "grey" and "gradus", some confirm this by mentioning that the grey mare (better horse) is recorded for 1536.)

Dr. Caius writes "The Greyhound obtained its name, Vertagus, originally from its craftiness. When in pursuit, it will turn itself (vertat) and with a revolution of the body it will, with a sudden rush, seize and catch its prey in the very opening of its lair. And it displays cunning in this way. When he comes to a rabbit-warren he does not worry the rabbit by running after them nor frighten them by barks, nor show any other marks of enmity, but casually and like a friend he passes by them in artful silence, carefully noting the rabbit's holes. On coming to the spot, he so arranges himself on the earth as to have the wind always against him and be out of view of the warren. In this way he easily perceives the smell of a rabbit coming in or going out, while the rabbit does not catch his scent at all and is baffled so as not to see him. So crouched, the hound lying in wait either cleverly seizes on the rabbit going out without thought of danger just at the burrow's entrance, or catches them on his return and carries him to his master in his mouth, he being hidden near by. This dog is smaller than the Sagaz we have mentioned, thinner and with pricked-up ears. Were he larger you would call him from his shape Bastard Leporarius. But though much smaller he can catch in one day as many animals as are a fair cartload. Guile and bodily agility are to him what strength might be.

"The Thief Dog is similar. At his master's commands he goes out at night and, following up the rabbits without barking by the scent borne in his face, he catches while coursing as many as his master allows and brings them back to where he stands. The inhabitants call him the Night Dog because he hunts at night."

Other writers such as the Roman poet Martial (born in Spain, 1st century A.D.) have described the "Vertagus" as a rabbit retriever.

When dog-coursing became more fashionable than eating rabbits in England, this ancient greyhound Vertagus was allowed to disappear into one of the less purebred types called "Lurchers". Going under that name for the past two or three hundred years, this type of Lurcher is still considered the greatest of all hounds by many of England's country people.

The fact that the "Vertagus" could hunt by night as well as by day, proves the superior quality of his nose; therefore, from Dr. Caius' descriptions, it is easy to see that a cross between the southern hound (Gazehound) and the greyhound (Vertagus) would increase the hunting ability and therefore speed of the southern hound by improving both its nose and brain, and, if lighter bone was also desired, and greater jumping ability, the cross could get that as well. The only thing the southern hound probably still lacked to make them the fine fox-hound of today was a good voice; but we all know some of the sources used for remedying that.

Dr. Caius begins his letter to Gesner by explaining that, in Latin, "Canis Venaticus" covered dogs hunting wild beasts as well as those catching birds, but he points out: "Englishmen, however, regard the two pursuits as distinct; and would put hunting first; and just so give two different names to each class of dog: (1) the Venatici (2) the Acupatorii.

"Further they subdivided (1) into 5 classes. Either they overcome the animals by (1) scent or (2) by sight or (3) by speed or (4) by scent and speed or (5) catch them by craft. The dog that wins by scent and is always swift is usually keen in following up the trail: this dog we call Sagax..."

After describing the large variety of dogs belonging to the Sagax group (bloodhounds, "terrarii", Otter Hounds, etc), Dr. Caius continues with:

"Lastly, it is in the nature of the Sagaces that some, before the quarry is started, should quickly hunt about, and others start the animal by a noise at once at the first scent, though as yet it may be far off and in its lair: the younger they are, too, the less manageable and the more faulty they are.

"For age and hunting practise breed experience and confidence in them as in other animals, especially when they have learnt to obey a master's commands and prohibitions. As for what strikes his sense of sight, this he follows not with his nose but with eye; with eye he pursues fox or hare, selects from a herd the fattest and richest animal only, follows it up, finds it again if the view is lost, sees it return to the herd apart from all the rest, and finally, when sighted, hunts it to death. We call it Agasaesus because it aims at its prey with the eye. It is more frequently employed in Southern than in Northern England, and in level country districts than those that are thorny and woody. Also, more by horsemen than by pedestrians; (for so they excite the horses to greater speed, the dogs taking more pleasure in them than in the prey itself, and accustom them lightly and fearlessly to leap over hedges and ditches and flee whither the riders may find refuge in flight through difficulty and danger or pursue and kill an enemy at will). Should the hound ever deviate, it will run up on the instant at a signal and renewing the chase with sharp bark and at quick pace worry the hunted animal as before."

Towards the end of his letter, Dr. Caius defines words he has used:

"Hound" then - the Sagax among the Venatici - comes from the word "hunt" with the change of one letter and "hunt" is translated "venari". And if taking from your language the word "Hund" ("dog" generally in German) you suppose it to be called that because of the similarity of the words, dear Gesner, I shall certainly be with you, for even now we retain many German words left over from the Saxon occupation of Britain, but I may also tell you the generic name for "canis" is "dog" and of "hunting dog", "Hound".

"Similarly from English "gaze" (to look closely or attentively at anything) we derive Gazehound, or as we have called it Agasaesus. For it is not by scent but by careful and diligent sighting, that such a dog follows the prey, as we have observed, though of course I know Agasaesus is one of the Latin words for dog.

"The Vertagus - we call him Tumbler: "tumble" in English is "vertere" in Latin, and "tumbiere" among the Gauls, whence the name Tumbler, with a characteristic change of vowel into a liquid."

We can see the many possibilities for mislabeling breeds or misinterpreting their labels. In the course of time the word "agasaesus" has been applied to a number of animals of the dog family, as has "leporarius", "greyhound", "lurcher", "gazehound" and many others. Consequently, the description of the breed is far more important than the names (frequently misnomers) attached to them, and Dr. Caius' many descriptions will always be of great value to those attempting to separate fact from fancy.

The Chronicle of the Horse An Aristocratic Preacher

Don Henderson

The Duke of Beaufort's Preacher was an aristocrat, as to bearing, and - definitely - a stoic. Some of our beloved fraternity of sitters by fires, listening to their packs running something or other, would toss him off as a damn snob. Nothing could be further from the truth. Let me tell you.

J. Watson Webb sent him from his Shelburne pack to Mr. Marland's Pack at Ponca City, Okla. JWW had hunted with us and knew the problems we encountered. The gift was to use for stud purposes. A fine upstanding Englishman, with his trimmed ears, over at the knuckles in front, and an air of superiority. He never cracked a smile and spoke only on the rarest occasions. But he proved to be a gallant lad with the ladies. Perhaps that also is running true to form!

I became quite fond of him, yet he puzzled me. He never took to hunting coyotes with the pack, but preferred instead to act as my personal escort. The pack, he it said, held their places by reason of their gay willingness to work for a sniff of their quarry, under often most trying scenting conditions.

The while they scurried here and there, the big saddle back, with a minimum of white markings, would stay by my horse, looking up with a sober glance of inquiry. He was saying, as clearly as a hound could - "What the hell's all this about? Damn busy, but so foolish. I want no part of it."

And, I suppose, by his English standards, he was right. Though it had been a hard job training them, just the same, my pack of busybodies gave rare sport. So I decided to put him to stud right away. I'd give him a fair break that he might prove his value and have an opportunity to assert his aristocratic lineage.

He was bred to Fancy (nervous), Ida (stoic), Beauty (old reliable), Belle (babbling). All of them at our top, with Walker

City Stables for Delinquents

by Seymour L. Nathan

Horseback riding used to be the elegant sport of "High Society". Others who rode horses on the farm or in the country looked upon them as means of transportation or as labor-saving devices. However, the advent of the automobile changed America's way of life from a horse-and-wagon to a rubber-tired environment.

Until recently, horses were neglected and were gradually disappearing from the scene. Now, though, there is a strong revival of interest in riding at a different level than ever before. The factors of exercise, interest and skill have led to the promotion of horseback riding in summer camps, recreation parks and therapy groups.

Public stables, once thought to be vanishing, have re-established themselves on city outskirts, where park areas are still provided with bridle paths. Some stable owners have recognized the appeal of horses to youth, and with a firm hand have guided youngsters of varied backgrounds into the paths of good horsemanship with astonishing character-building results.

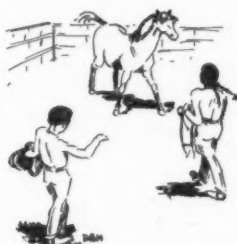

One modern problem is the growing percentage of misdeeds and crime among young people. "Juvenile Delinquency" are scare words in our time. Strenuous efforts are being made by government and private organizations to combat the decay of morals by means of education and recreation. As a recreational activity, riding and managing a horse can give the rider a sense of accomplishment, as well as a respect for the welfare and responses of another living thing.

The young person attracted to stable environment has a new world opened up to him. Obvious physical danger is present. Care and obedience are emphasized, not with an all-encompassing "Be careful" or "Don't hurt yourself" admonition, but with specific examples performing in front of his eyes. Sharp teeth and steelshod hooves are always in evidence. An alert child soon understands the rules and keeps them in mind. Merely keeping away from the kicking range requires attention. Mounting correctly, holding the reins, guiding the horse, learning the gaits and all the requirements of proper horsemanship, will occupy the mind of any energetic juvenile to the exclusion of many less worthwhile endeavors.

The effects of these activities on the young mind are incalculable. A typical example has been the experience of Stanley Holzhauser, a stable owner whose location is in a middle-class section of Queens in New York City. Over the past 15 years many of his "clientele" have been teen-agers from neighboring homes surrounding the public park and bridle-paths nearby. Groups of boys would appear from time to time, spurred on by one or two of the gang. Several would be sufficiently interested to come back for more. They soon found out that the owner would allow them to clean out the stable, and later, to "tack up" the horses. Then, if they showed the proper ability and spirit, they got free rides leading uncertain groups through the park. They progressed rapidly, became proficient riders and "authorities" on all horse matters.

All sorts of "kids" grew up on horseback at Stanley's "Parkside Riding Academy". They range from the spoiled children of well-to-do parents to the potential reform school types so prevalent on city streets today. All get the same treatment from the "boss", even if the more fortunate ones happen to prevail upon their families to buy a "private". Cleaning stalls, tacking up, riding with other "hacks", calming down a frisky horse - all these duties are shared by the approved group of riders.

The typical case of Bobby B. will serve to illustrate. He showed up one day, a thin, scraggly boy of 10, just hanging around with his hands in his pockets. He was wide-eyed with fascination, eager to please. During the second weekend appearance, he was allowed to hold a horse's reins when the rider dismounted. He led the horse into the stable, as he had seen others do, and turned it over to a waiting older hand. From then on his progress was rapid, and in a year he was an accomplished "alley" rider. It was learned that both of his parents worked and he was alone a lot. He was taken in hand by the stable people sharing meals, going along on Stanley's horse dealings, and in a few years became a trusted lieutenant. During this growing-up period, he finished High School, served two years with the Army, came home, found a lovely girl - a top rider, too - got married, and now is the proud father of two boys. Once in a while he brings the older one around to his old "home" for a visit, and is a picture of the "All American" father.

In contrast, Joey S. was a tough one. In his teens when he came around, he was rough and cruel to the horses, and sulky with the customers. A hard worker, and otherwise dependable, Holzhauser kept him on, despite his impatient and aggressive manner. It was disturbing to watch him handle the animals, and none of the riders were sorry to see him go on to the Air Force. When he returned he had lost some of his meanness, and spent a few more years at stable work. Then he settled down, got married, and found a productive job. Today, he's a solid citizen, his change slow, gradual and trouble-free. Stable environment, capped by several years of military discipline, brought about the evolution.

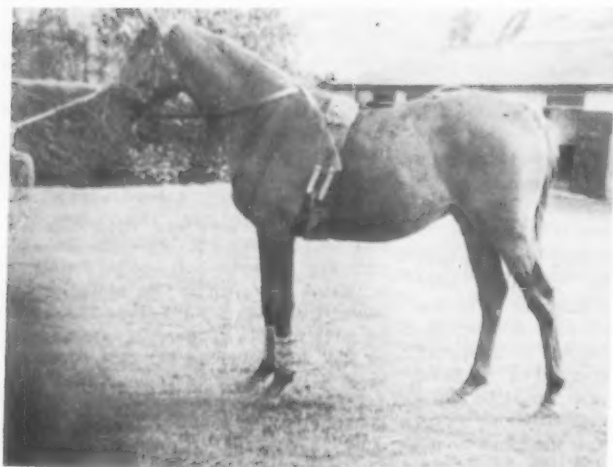

The careers of several dozen of these boys make the point. A few soon gave up the hard work, and if heard from later, were still on the fringes of civilized living. The others grew up healthily, finished school, went into service, emerged with good records, married pretty girls (usually met at the stable) and are raising families. It's always an event when one of them returns leading a child by the hand, and matter-of-factly hoists it onto some docile horse's back. It is a source of pride to the man who provided the atmosphere which shaped their early years. The boys come back as men, whose thinking and outlook have been formed while working around and with horses. They cannot be mean or tough. They have an understanding rarely acquired in any other recreation.

Then there are the rest of us - the average people, who ride for fun and health. For a few dollars an hour, we are privileged to ride good horses, to sweep up the shavings if we want to, tack up if we want to do so, but above all, to gain in skill and technique in a thoroughly clean atmosphere of good horsemanship.

There is a leveling effect present in horse circles such as these. Riders share a mutual bond in their admiration of a good horse or a good rider. To attain the stature of having your opinion accepted or your riding ability unquestioned, is a soul-satisfying experience.

Horses are a breed of man's more domesticated animals. It is a happy turn of events that public stables are providing the means for man (or woman) and horses to get together again. The people who are using them, and the youngsters who are learning to use them, are a new section of the American sporting public. Just as small boating has taken over from the millionaire's yachts, so Stanley's "Parkside Riding Academy" has replaced the estate stable and the exclusive polo field of yesterday.

Breaking Yearlings - the Irish Way

by John Hartigan

Every year there are hundreds of yearlings being broken, with the hopeful deadline for most being the first of January and the ever increasing accent on 2-year-old racing. However, across the waters in The Emerald Isle there is a far more leisurely program proceeding. Their deadline is March 17th, St. Patrick's Day no less, traditionally the opening of the flat racing season.

The yearling's formal education begins approximately September 1st and starts off with being taught to walk properly. Naturally, they have been led from the time they were foals, but this is different, from really knowing how to "walk out". To do this a cavesson is used. This is a form of halter with a steel band over the nose, heavily padded, to which are attached three rings, one in the front and one on either side of the nose, the importance of which will be shown later. A chifney bit is put in his mouth, and a shank attached to the ring in the middle of the cavesson. Boots are placed on the legs. The yearling is then led away with someone walking behind him to make him "walk up into the bit." This is done for an hour a day for about a week or until the animal has learned to walkout sharply without lagging.

Next he is taught to longe. This is considered one of the more important stages of his education, as it will teach the yearling to give and take with his neck, and to use his leads, properly while at the cantor. He is of course, taught to go both left and right. This illustrates the reason for having the longe line attached to the ring in the middle of the nose, so that at all times one has complete control of the head and neck. At the same time, the yearling has had the chifney in his mouth, and has learned to chew on the bit, thus keeping his mouth moist with saliva. As the cavesson fits tightly over the nose, it keeps his mouth shut, greatly reducing the chance of learning to get the tongue over the bit.

By now, several weeks have elapsed. The yearling has learned not to fight with his head, and to a certain extent to obey the voice. He is next introduced to the actual breaking bridle, and to an amazing amount of superficial equipment whose purpose no one has ever clearly explained, but which puts in its appearance every year from habit, through hundreds of years of use! The roller, also called the surcingle, goes on after the bridle. From this are attached crossed bearing reins to the bridle, and the bridle reins are buckled to the side of the roller. A crupper, from the roller to the horse's tail is next put on. A rope is now tied from one side of the roller down over the horse's hocks and up to the other side of the roller, known as a kicking string. Next, various pieces of sacking, rope, and straps are hung from the horse at the discretion of the breaker.

The driving reins are then attached to the left and right rings of the cavesson. The yearling is now persuaded to longe with this equipment on him to the left and the right, with the driving reins rather than with a single longe line. This can be an advantage and a disadvantage. Great care must be taken at this stage by both man and beast not to get entangled in this maze of equipment, as it can be done easily by letting the off rein slip too low! Once accustomed to everything, the year-and yanking on a yearling's mouth and head that one so often sees at the farm or track.

Like everywhere else in the world, Irish trainers vary greatly in their methods of bringing young stock to their first race. But on the whole a great deal of emphasis is put on long slow gallops over open country, twisting in and out of trees, etc., and a great deal of trotting on both turf and paved roads. Many trainers have their own peculiarities. The writer's father used to have two low brush jumps up the side of a fair sized hill about a half mile from the stables. When they reached this point every morning, he would lead a string of 15 or 20 young horses over the two jumps like a calvary charge! I never saw one get hurt and they definitely enjoyed it. His theory was that it made the young horse learn to take a longer stride. There was another trainer who galloped his young horses in and out of the golf course fairways. This made nimble footed horses, but

Old Horse "Receipts"

1. To make a black horse white - take goat's gall and paint the horse with it and it will turn white.
2. To get a filly foal next time - Bury the afterbirth under an apple tree.
3. When a horse eats too much and swells - take 4-5 pounds fresh milk - mix a few pinches of black snuff tobacco in the milk. Give to animal and drive him slowly around. He will soon have an opening. (If no snuff handy, mix vinegar and yeast in the milk.)
4. When a horse has a skin growing over the retina of the eye - take of fresh butter a piece as large as a pigeon's egg and knead with saffron. Put it into the eye of the horse, bandage the eye and in 24 hours the skin will have vanished.
5. To rid horse of worms - Fill your left shoe with horse urine and pour in his right ear.

Last stop of breaking from the ground - (Left) Cavesson and kicking rope or string taken off. It is the first time for direct contact between the breaker and the yearling's mouth, the driving reins having been attached to the bit. Boy up for the first time - (Right) Note crupper, bearing reins, and standing martingale, which will remain until the yearling starts taking the bit.

ling is driven from behind, the cavesson being taken off and the reins attached to the breaking bridle. If the yearling has learned his lessons properly thus far, he will answer to the slightest touch of the reins and to the voice.

The next step is to replace the roller with the saddle, still using the crupper. By now, the yearling is well acquainted with all the equipment he will ever have to wear, and the man breaking him is extremely fit from running along behind him! It is now time for the boy to get on the horse and one is rarely used that weighs less than 140 lbs. The handling now becomes similar to the breaking in America except of course, that no race track is used. The big advantage of the Irish method is that at this point the yearling is very much more bridle-wise, which eliminates the tugging outraged the golfers!

Owing to the fact that in Europe the tracks go both clockwise and counter-clockwise, and frequently have no inside rail except for the last half mile, horses must be manageable and obedient to the rider's handling. It has often been asked by purchasers and prospective purchasers why it is that many imported horses appear to be unruly and hard to handle. The answer to this paradox seems to lie in the difference in racing conditions. Over there, the starting gate is an open barrier, there is no post parade, no mud and dirt in their faces, and no charge from the gate for the first quarter mile, etc., so when brought over here, they are subjected to a complete change of handling methods and voice. And after all, what is more soothing than Irish Blarney! (The Florida Horse)

6. To rid horse of worms - Take vinegar and egg shells, chimney soot and pepper. Mix and give to horse.

7. To increase appetite - Give 1 to 2 oz. of juniper berries, daily.

COL. WINN VISIONED MODERN FILM PATROL

The late Col. Matt J. Winn was a far-sighted man, according to a clipping dated May 20, 1936. The clipping quotes the original "Mr. Kentucky Derby" as advocating the photographing "of the entire race" as a great "boon" to the sport of horse racing. He also is reported as saying that he fully intended having such a camera installed at Churchill Downs in Louisville.

blood dominating. Except Beauty, each was being bred for the first time.

He sired 15 puppies, all of his color. Lusty youngsters, my kennelman raised 13 to weaning age. Then they went to walk with my farmer friends. The reports were uniformly encouraging. Friendly, learned yard breaking easily, took discipline in their stride, with no grouching or timidity. Remembered what they were taught. It was a popular entry that year.

The few times we hunted them, they showed gaity, willingness to do their utmost - traits from their dams. From their sire, a stolid sense of duty, one to the other, to the pack, and to their huntsman. None showed any of the temperamental weaknesses of their mammies.

This was 1929, and the bottom fell out of things. The pack went to Riley, Sill and Leavenworth. The Preacher pups went to Riley. Gifts that, in the true Marland tradition, marked that fine oilman's generosity.

I had a day with the Riley pack. Cpl. Black, from the 9th Cav., one of the two colored regiments, had complete charge at kennels, and hunted that day with superb tact. Those youngsters ran the hell out of the gawky Kansas jacks. Black told me the pack had never had such drive,

The Chronicle of the Horse until the Ponca entry took hold.

That day proved that JWW, through Preacher, had hit the true infiltration of blood that would really furnish sport.

And, one can well imagine old Preacher, with never a smile, muttering - "Good'uns, aren't they - what?" - I can almost hear him snuffle and grunt, as he clumsily cavorts around my horse. The nearest he ever came to letting his hair down in a demonstrative way.

HORSE SHOWS

Pebble Beach Three-Day Event

Lt. Col. J. R. Burton

Pebble Beach has just concluded its fourth 3-day event. Having been at each of the previous ones, this one was somewhat of a disappointment because things went so well. The previous ones had their share of growing and organization pains and the trials last year had been used as Selection Trials for the Olympic Committee. This year Dick Collins, having previously faced and solved most every obstacle that can arise in administering a combined test, had things running so smooth and even, that I found the lack of problems to be solved unnerving.

The open division consisted of seven starters and one finisher. Various difficulties plagued the riders, but Buster Harty, lately from Ireland, riding Mr. Galvin's Shamrock was the only contestant to finish the open division. This won the individual medal for Mr. Harty. Two horses, Next Appeal ridden by Claudia Frisbie of Pebble Beach and Continental ridden by Mr. Stratti of Italy, were eliminated at the new improved and more difficult liverpool on the steeplechase course. Two horses Sunny Lanai ridden by Roz Johnson of Flintridge Riding Club in Los Angeles and Tom Turpin ridden by Brooks Busby of Pebble Beach were unable to go on the third day because of lameness.

MIGHTY SAILOR, owned and ridden by Miss Frances Hansel of Washington, going over the splash. This combination won the Gold Medal in the Intermediate Division.

Two horses, Vox owned and ridden by Chan Turnley and Sea Tiger ridden by Michael Page and owned by Rancho San Fernando Rey were eliminated when they took a jump out of order on the steeplechase course. Both horses however completed the cross country and Sea Tiger completed the stadium jumping course.

Michael Page was back to ride a green horse, Rangoon and Sea Tiger, the gelding ridden last year by David Lurie in the open division. It was good to see him keeping his hand in on these two horses from Mr. John Galvin's Rancho San Fernando Rey.

Ernie Simard rode two green horses indicating his desire to stay current in the sport of Combined Training.

The dressage was not up to last year's test which used the Olympic ride, whereas the 1960 AHSA B-2 test was used for these trials. The riders were in general-lacking in brilliance and some needed much more accuracy. They seemed to look on the test as a necessary evil to have done with before the endurance test.

The cross country had some ingenious and imaginative additions by Dick Collins. A novel mound with fence behind was colorful, but actually caused little trouble. A bridge jumped out of the ditch was unusual and found most horses banking it. In the Intermediate Division they galloped onto the same narrow bridge with no side railings and out over a little jump. A fence in a half circle of woven poles was situated in a dense wood with difficult approach patterns which caused quite a bit of study on the riders part. Rome showed its influence on the last Jump which was a formidable single Irish bank followed a few yards later by a thin rail a la Rome. This picturesque obstacle caused no difficulty except an initial rider problem. The other jumps such as the splash, trakehner, up bank over a ditch, slide with stile at the bottom, coffin, (slide to a fence and ditch with up bank on other side) provided challenging tests for both riders and horses.

The Intermediate division was a sight to warm anyone's heart. It had quantity and with quantity it always follows that some quality comes to the fore. There were nineteen starters and fourteen finishers in the intermediate division which, combined with the open, totaled 26 competitors. The crop of younger horses in the intermediate speaks highly of the caliber of training and conditioning being carried on in the Far West. The team from Ram Tap Stables of Fresno coached by Mrs. Pat Humphries was outstanding. Individually the team won second, fifth and sixth. First place was won by Miss Frances Hansel on Mighty Sailor who hails from the Seattle area. Second was Miss Joan Shields riding a 14.1 pony, Royal Pantages from the Ram Tap Stables of Fresno. Third was Ryan Busby on Divine Time from Pebble Beach. These first three horses were separated by only 7 points which shows the keenness of the competition. Hugh Foletta from Australia rode the Pebble Beach Stables' Maverick to fourth. Fifth and sixth were Ram Tap Stables of Fresno entries of Divine Time and Eternal Stride, ridden by Henry Burton and Mrs. Peter Whiting. Mrs. Whiting's fine quality bay mare showed brilliantly in dressage. Dr. Bob Lawison of the Los Altos Hunt was seventh on Rip Tide; I would like to reflect the admiration of all in his spirit of going out and competing against a field many of whom were twenty-five years junior to him.

The stadium jumping was in keeping with the caliber of the preceding tests. It consisted of two staggered in and outs which caused some rider consternation and some trouble. A goodly sized oxer and water caused little difficulty.

The requirement to have a winding course and a 180 degree turn was met by jumping into a 36 feet square pen and coming out the same side in a U turn, a la Stockholm in 1956. This caused some anxious moments, but little actual difficulty.

The parades of the teams to receive medals and awards with the accompaniment of the Fort Ord band provided a fitting climax to the contestants and 1000 plus sized crowd.

Individual Score - 1. Mighty Sailor, Frances Hansel, -53; 2. Royal Pantages, S. Shields, -58; 3. Nemo, R. Busby, -60.3; 4. Maverick, Hugh Foletta, -65; 5. Divine Time, H. Burton, -80; 6. Bradley, -167.3; 12. Rangoon, Page, -169.5; 13. Aintree, D. Washburn, -183.3; 14. Paddy Boals, E. Simard, -227.5.

Team Scores - 1. Ram Tap Fresno - 238.6; 2. Pebble Beach - 292.6.

Open Div. - 1. Shamrock, B. Harty, # 20.7. (No other contestants finished).

Smithtown

The Smithtown hunt members deserve much credit for the continuance of the Smithtown show, oldest of its kind on Long Island. The show which has not had permanent grounds for several years was in danger of being dropped. Then the Hunt, as the only organized "horse" group in the area, accepted the sponsorship of the show. It was no small obligation either, since the rings and outside course all had to be erected just for the day. A yeoman's service was done by the grounds committee chairman, Frank Richmond, who could take a great deal of the credit for the facilities being in such good order. The outside course was in excellent shape and as remarked by the judge, "a really good test of a hunter". It certainly did attract a greatly increased number in both the green and the working divisions.

Goodlettsville

Ninety-six dollars, representing $1.00 entry fees in six classes, were collected for the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc. at the 24th annual Goodlettsville Horse Show about 10 miles from Nashville. The 15-ring night money-prize program for gaited and walking horses was sponsored by the local P.T.A. and Men's Club. The afternoon hack and horsemanship classes were sponsored by The Nashville Tennessean.

Visitors arrived early for the Regional Pony Club Rally three days later, carried off a number of top prizes. Jack Erb, 12, of Germantown, Tenn., was High Score Boy Rider not over 18, the Thoroughbred hack class and reserve in the hack championship being among his victories. High Score points were earned for the most rides in the ribbons.

High Particular, the champion hack, is a registered American Saddler that has won much as a jumper and hunter. M.L.W.

U.S.E.T. Benefit

On looking back one wonders how a show will be remembered - because we had exhibitors from five states (a lot of territory out here!) - because three out of five divisions ended up in photo finishes on the last day - or because a wandering news photographer happened to have his lens opened at the right moment to catch a dramatic though harmless spill, doubtless breaking nearly all existing records by putting the horse show on the FRONT page of the local paper?

The green division was most encouraging, presenting many fine young horses which promise to bring the standard up a notch or two in future years. Both Pipe Dream and Sawatch, who hacked off for the tri-color on Sunday, look like "hot prospects".

Brutus and Dusky Dawn jumped for the Novice Championship following the Stake - and Pill Box earned his keep, jumping off three consecutive times - for the championship, the stake, and the sweepstakes, and winning all three! Telegram had a big day on Saturday, winning the Master's Challenge Trophy in the working division and then the puissance - versatile animal!

When the dust cleared, and the trophy box was empty, feelings were doubtless mixed. Some perhaps were disappointed, some pleased, some a little richer and some a little poorer. All, we hope, will return again. The Old Wrangler

St. Jude's

Competition proved very keen in the open jumper division. By Sat. night it seemed as though David Hopper with My Play Stable's Bon Noel had everything sewed up for the championship. Things changed on Sunday when Johnny Bell started to win with Duffy Stable's champion, McLain Street. After winning the open jumping class he was still behind by 4 pts. but he continued on to win the stake while Bon Noel took 6th putting Johnny ahead by one pt. to win the championship.

In the green jumper division Ex Dream ridden by Johnny Blair and Scottish Tour ridden by Jen Marsden were tied for reserve championship with 11 pts. each. They jumped off and although Scottish Tour had just won the stake class he lost the reserve ribbon to Ex Dream.

Little Rusty Stewart riding his grandfather's Little Fiddle put in some terrific performances to win both the open working division and the junior division. He also rode My Indian Princess to children's jumper champ.

Another highlight of Sunday afternoon was Rusty Stewart riding Little Fiddle and Diana Sprague riding Compromising Lady to win the Tandem Hunt Event. They were awarded the Governor's Challenge Trophy by John Flandrea, a member of Gov. Rockefeller's staff. Exhibitor

The 1964 Olympic Three-Day Event

In the June 1st issue of the German Horse Magazine "Sankt Georg", Count Rothkirch reports on the meeting of the International Three-Day-Event-Committee of the F.E.I., which took place in Basle on May 15, 1961. Other members of the Committee, in addition to Count Rothkirch of Germany, are Messrs. Bruni of Italy and Sarazin of Switzerland.

The following are the main suggestions for future Olympic Three-Day Events which the committee will submit to the Autumn meeting of the F.E.I.:

1. A new three-day dressage test, which was proposed by Germany, and which will take about eight minutes, was approved.

2. The idea of requiring certain previous minimum accomplishments for horses was not approved, since it was the unanimous opinion that it would be practically impossible to control such a requirement.

3. The official veterinarian of the Olympic Three-Day Committee, and who previously has acted only in an advisory capacity, will be given a full vote. A special committee, on which the veterinarian must serve, will examine the horses after the second roads and trails phase and before the start of the cross country phase. A pause of ten minutes will be introduced at this point for this purpose.

4. The distances of the roads and trails part should be reduced and the maximum measurements of some of the obstacles should be lowered.

5. A rider will be eliminated after the second fall in the steeplechase or the third fall on the cross country course.

6. The unlimited use of the whip, without regard for the horse, or other cruelties will be penalized with 80 penalty points, if a fence judge or a member of the judge's committee has definitely noticed them.

7. A change in the bonus points for time was not approved. Fast horses will continue to receive such bonus points and shall not be penalized in favor of slower horses.

8. As far as help to riders by strangers is concerned, it was suggested that, in any cases of doubt, the judges committee shall make the final decision.

9. The Parours for the stadium jumping on the third day shall be without any turning flags, and shall be built so simply and clearly that it will be nearly impossible for a rider to make a mistake on the course.

THREE HOLSTEINERS

imported from their breeders in Germany by the present owner in May, 1959. These mares, the result of 300 years of selective breeding, are sound, have unusual jumping ability, excellent dispositions, no vices and good stable manners.

Besides being ready to carry weight in the hunting field, they are suitable to produce dense-boned, relaxed, clever high jumpers for top competition.

NUDI b.m., 16.3, by Fangball-Favor, foaled April 28, 1954. In the ribbons both times shown 1961.

FERIEN b.m., 17, by Fangball-Gaselle, foaled April 1, 1956.

FRITZ THIEDEMANN & METEOR RETIRE

The world champion Meteor has finally retired to a well deserved rest at pasture. However, the 18-year-old Holsteiner will not be lonely. His owner, Fritz Thiedemann, purchased a Shetland pony stallion for the sole purpose of keeping the ex-champ company. Meteor garnered over 150 victories in National & International jumping classes (world record) from all four corners of the world.

After Germany captured the "Preis der Nationen" at the recent CHIO Aachen, Germany, Fritz Thiedemann officially announced his retirement from active show jumping. Thiedemann is the winner of 2 Olympic Gold Medals, 2 Olympic Bronze Medals, 4 times jumping champion of Germany; he also won the German Jumping Derby 5 times, and over 530 victories participating in national and international shows.

The 43-year-old star intends devoting his time entirely to breeding and training of Holsteiners. Best wishes to this unprecedented pair.

Pony Club Instructors Clinic

George Cole Scott

A forerunner of the Pony Club's "Mountain to Mohammed" Project took place recently at the Fox Hill Farm of Mr. & Mrs. Dean Bedford in Maryland. The name applied to the project comes from the idea that, while the U.S.P.C. believes all of its instructors would receive great benefit if they could attend the ten day Pony Club Instructors Course at Camp Teela-Wooket, the unfortunate facts are that many cannot fit that course into their schedule. As a second method of providing assistance and service to the Pony Club Instructors, National Headquarters has decided to go to the Regions in a series of one day Instructors Clinics. In this way it is believed that the standard of instruction will be improved, and a more uniform understanding of the A, B, C and D standard will be attained.

The clinic at the Bedford's farm, actually the second of its kind at that location, was a prototype for future clinics. These will probably be one, or at most, two day affairs and no not in any way supercede the course at Teela-Wooket. Instead they supplement it.

In 1961 only one more such clinic is planned. This is to be in Virginia in the late summer. Then, with the experience so gained, it is hoped that a full schedule of clinics may be planned for all Regions in 1962.

Miss Patricia du Pont has written us an interesting letter about the Bedford Clinic from "a student's point of view" and we feel it should be included in this article:

Mr. Bedford opened the day-long program with a lecture on the seven principles of teaching: (1) object (2) simplicity (3) preparation (4) senses (hearing, sight and feel) (5) sympathy (6) interest (7) confirmation. These principles were nicely illustrated during a demonstration of teaching a beginner. The object or goal of that particular lesson was made clear by actually showing the child how to lead a pony, mount, hold reins, adjust stirrups, sit correctly, how to walk, and finally how to dismount properly. The lesson had been prepared by the instructor in advance and simple terms were used that were clear and concise to the child. The pupil was told what to do, shown how to do it, and then felt it by executing what he had been told and shown. The child's interest was maintained by giving him a chance to do some of the simple movements himself. The instructor was constantly encouraging him and was sympathetic to errors. The instructor confirmed the objects of the lesson by reviewing it with the child at the conclusion.

Mrs. French of St. Timothy's School demonstrated teaching a quartet of "D" riders and emphasized the importance of clear, concise directions and the importance of maintaining alertness among the students.

Miss Sue Powers took six "C" riders and, through a junior assistant instructor, showed the usual faults that an amateur commits and how to avoid them. Miss Powers then showed the proper use of cavaletti as a jumping aid to both students and horses alike. In this work she used ten pupils, gradually advancing them from simple jumping to "C" rating stadium jumping, using a variety of single fences and combination fences, both straight and spread, emphasizing turns and approaching fences properly. The highest fence was about 3'6".

Following lunch, a grooming demonstration was given by Mr. Bedford with the assistance of two Pony Clubbers, showing both proper and improper methods

The Chronicle of the Horse of cleaning a pony.

This was followed by a "B" dressage test fully explained by Mrs. Bedford who evaluated each movement; then the test was ridden through without interruption by the student and judged by Mrs. Bedford.

A "C" dressage test was ridden in this same manner, the faults and merits being noted by Mrs. Bedford.

At the conclusion of the day, Mr. Bedford conducted a question and answer period. It is the opinion of all who attended that this course is an invaluable aid to Pony Club Instructors, both veterans and beginners, and it is recommended that all Regions have a similar event.

A copy of the program will serve to illustrate the subjects covered:

Rapid Creek Pony Club

Saturday, May 20th, found Rapid Creek Pony Club's second annual show under clear skies. The class list was arranged to accommodate both stock and flat saddle riders in the hope of pulling horsemen out of their separate corners so that irregardless of the type of saddle or horse each would better appreciate and understand the other's specialty. In this effort we were greatly aided by the presence and participation of Mr. Duane Edinger whose fine Arabian mare not only won the Working Stock Horse class, but also the English Pleasure class and who went on to participate Sunday in the United States Combined Training Association Jenny Camp event in which he placed 4th in dressage, 15th in

for ADULTS AND FAMILIES

August 31 - Sept. 13 this outstanding girls' riding camp in the heart of Vermont's Green Mountains is open to adults and their families. There will be horsemanship riding for beginners, experienced and advanced riders. There are miles of old roads and bridle paths for cross-country riding and an excellent hunt course. The Archery Camp will also be in session. There will be square dancing, archery, swimming, golf, tennis, or one may just loaf in the beautiful surroundings. Comfortable quarters, excellent meals. Moderate rates.

cross country, and completed the stadium jumping event where he was unfortunately eliminated by an error of course (otherwise this mare would have been 6th in the senior division of the 3 phase event). Western classes were judged under Iowa Stock Horse Ass'n. rules and jumping classes were under F.E.I. rules. One of the major attractions was the 5 bar jumping class in which Miss Geneve Ver Vais of Iowa City, riding Mr. Fred Fluegel's Bar Iron, and Miss Sarah Haskins of Des Moines, riding her own Sweet Laurel, had 4 jump offs and were declared tied for first. Both of these riders are Pony Club B's. The beginning and novice jumping classes were enjoyed because of the large number of diminutive figures flying around on large horses. The Open Jumping saw many good rounds by out of state as well as Iowa riders - among these were Mr. Ray Grossman and Mrs. John Pappas of Rock Island and Mr. A. C. Dutton of Kansas City, Kansas. The Prix Caprilli - a two phase event, open only to pony clubbers who could not participate in the Jenny Camp event, saw some very promising performances.

The Rapid Creek Challenge Bowl was presented to Miss Jane Taylor. This bowl is awarded annually to the C or B member of Rapid Creek Pony Club who has shown outstanding ability in stable management, riding, and written examination throughout the show weekend. The B candidates are responsible for 2 horses, their stalls and equipment. The C's are responsible for one horse. Both take oral and written examinations. Major H. E. Kellner of Leavenworth, Kansas, spent the weekend checking, testing, and observing his nine candidates. All did very fine jobs, but the bowl went to Miss Taylor for the second year. She earned it!

CONSIDERATION FOR SHOW PONIES

May I put in a plea, now that the showing season is on, that ponies - and horses for that matter - should be treated with some consideration at shows.

Only too often they arrive at a show early, are entered for a great many classes and in between are ridden around absolutely non-stop, not only by their riders, but by all their riders' friends. It is very nice to be able to say, "Do you want to try him, see how fast he gallops", etc., but it is grossly unfair to your horse or pony.

After a class he should be cooled off, if necessary; perhaps be given a little grass and then put up in the trailer, tied up or held. Don't sit on him in order to get a better view of the show either. Do remember to give him a drink. A hay net to nibble at will keep him calm. It is a waste of time to try and teach him something new or something difficult when you are actually at a show. If he has not grasped the aids you give him for the correct lead, he is not going to when excited.

Va. - North Carolina Regional Rally

In India the elephant symbolizes strength. At the Virginia-North Carolina Regional Rally (Charlottesville June 26-28) an elephant helped bring not only strength but victory to both the Loudoun Hunt's B and C teams who, in rain-swept Charlottesville, won their respective divisions with points to spare.

Transportation to the rally at the Farmington Hunt Club, June 26-28, was furnished courtesy of Arthur Godfrey, Leesburg resident and quarter horse enthusiast, who loaned his fabulous Beacon Hill Farms 6-horse van (with running water) to the home teams. At first whiff, however, it didn't look as though the Loudounites home-grown and home schooled ponies and horses would make the rally. Used to transport Godfrey's pet dressage-trained elephant, the plush pachyderm palace smelt so of unfamiliar elephant that the equines panicked. Eventually coaxed into the van via a propped-up ramp (the elephant had broken the ramp) the teams' mounts and mountains of equipment journeyed to Charlottesville in style where the B. team scored 826 2/3 points, 56 points over runner-up Middleburg-Orange County, and the second C. team fought it out to the finish against Middleburg-Orange County's second C. Team, winning by an 18 point margin.

After a rigorous cram course under the direction of Mrs. Stewart Treviranus both Loudoun teams made an impressive showing. During the first day's dressage, pint-sized, pig-tailed Susan Stanford of the low C team garnered a 35, the highest dressage score at the rally. Well-drilled, well-regimented and well-dressed at all times (despite the occasional downpours) the Loudounites stable management equalled their performances cross country and in the stadium jumping.

In the last phase both teams pulled ahead. With four riders the B's had a score of 87 while Middleburg-Orange County, with 3 riders only, managed but 33 points. The C's chalked up 77 points as opposed to the MOCers 69.

One A., Ann C. Foster of The Plains, and B. Associate Wendy Whitney, Middleburg, competed on their own. Riding Mrs. Paul Fout's grand old Curist, Ann C. Foster collected 281 2/3 points while Wendy finished with a score of 157 1/2.

Patricia Hanly of the home Albemarle Team negotiates the coop in the stadium jumping.

To add an incidental note, Ann C's famous campaigner Rowdy, veteran of numerous National Rallies and Combined Training Events, was ridden by Dee Strother of the Middleburg-Orange County team to near perfect performances cross country and stadium jumping.

D-Day

The first day of the rally was devoted to D's and Dressage. The fledgling pony clubbers did a simple dressage test with four letters, 50% equitation, followed by cross country and stadium jumping, scaled down to D-size. Official winners, according to the final scores submitted by Rally Director Brig. General Harry Disston, placed the Middleburg-Orange County second team (Tim Loomis, Jonathan Achilles, Langhorne Wiley) first, with the MOC first team (Louie Strother, Florence Adams, Widget Crane, Carey McConnell) second and Blue Ridge third.

Two dressage areas, B's and C's respectively, operated at the same time. Tests on veterinary and foxhunting knowledge, and horsemastership, based on 25 oral questions were given following each dressage ride. Later, written tests, 25 questions to be answered within 40 minutes, were given out. Out of these evolved several new spellings, 'screwball' for skewbald, "where hole?" for 'ware hole, 'cornet' for coronet, 'baboon' for bridoon. Special commendation, went to the Pony Clubber who, in answer to "What should you do if the huntsman and whippers-in approach from the rear?" replied, "I'd face them and smile!"

Mental Hazards

The second day's cross country kept a good many pony clubbers awake the night before. Actually it seemed an excellent course, more fraught with hairpin turns and mental hazards than actual peril. Approximately 1 3/4 miles, the 20 fences included tight in and outs, narrow panels, a pole with horse blankets draped over it and a downhill fence with a sharp turn to avoid crashing into a delivery truck parked in the field. Although there were several eliminations due to cut flags, there were no falls.

Friday, August 4, 1961

Stable Management

Military type stable inspection was held following the cross country. Strict but fair chief judge George Cole Scott, Colonels W. A. Samouce and John E. Rhea marked down for dusty bellies, uncleaned hooves, tack-rooms with a pin out of place.

All told the stable management was excellent. Plucky Casanova - Warrenton, whose Rally horses were, at the last minute, sick and disabled, and who made up a scratch team of borrowed mounts, compensated by perfect scores.

Deep Run and Blue Ridge had well-appointed tack rooms.

Stadium Jumping

The final phase created far more havoc than the cross country - only half the contestants completed the modified Olympic type course set up in the ring. Only one of the 14 teams completed the course. This was Albemarle's C Team Captained by Isabelle Eager. With two perfect scores and one score of 20 for three riders, credit goes to some bold jumping ponies and riders, not to mention the home team's grand coach, Mrs. Ellie Wood Keith.

Hospitality

The host pony club, Albemarle, and the committee, headed by Brig. Gen. Harry Disston and Mrs. Douglas Nicoll, did a superlative job of stabling, course building and hospitality. Despite sudden showers, drenched Pony Clubbers and disgruntled parents (quite rightly barred from the stable area) meals were hot and nourishing, the picnic supper at the Buck Mountain Riding Club, the Sing Along and everything but the swimming, went swimmingly. The local families who went to so much trouble to transport and house the visitors, plus the committee member who arranged fresh flowers each day on all the tables, deserve all kinds of credit.

CANADIAN PONY CLUB TEAM TO GO TO AUSTRALIA

The Canadian Pony Club Advisory Board has accepted an invitation to send a Team to visit Australia and to compete in the International Pony Club Competition in Melbourne in early September. The Australian Pony Clubs will furnish horses for the visitors.

To represent Canada is a team of three boys, Moffat Dunlap and Peter Jaffray belong to the Eglinton Hunt Branch, Toronto, Ontario. Ricky Maynard is from the Maple Ridge Branch of the Pony Club in Haney, British Columbia.

Moffat Dunlap as a very young man went to his first Pony Club Rally on his donkey, later competed on a number of occasions at the Annual Canadian Inter Branch Pony Club Rally. For the past several years he has had outstanding show ring success with his little Thoroughbred Dilmom, who has frequently gained Zone Championships awarded by the Canadian Horse Shows Association for Working Hunters, Junior Hunters and Jumpers and also fared well in open Jumper events. Moffat is now in the Associate age group of the Pony Club.

Ricky Maynard, also a Pony Club Associate, is one of the top Junior riders on the West Coast. Several years ago he was a member of the British Columbia Scholarship Team which travelled east to take part in the Annual Canadian Inter Branch Rally held at Strathroy, Ontario.

Peter Jaffray, regular Pony Club member who holds the "B" certificate, has made a very creditable record for the past several years at the Annual Rally riding as a "C" and then as a "B". This year at the recently held Annual Rally in London, Ontario, he was the top scoring "B" rider and a member of the winning "B" Team.

The Peace I Know

There is no quiet like a wood in winter,
The little paths are bedded down in leaves,
The trees stand silent in their bare-branched beauty
While falling snow creates for them new sleeves.
Here do we come, my horse and I together
To seek retreat in every kind of weather.

Today the Chestnut treads with caution,
shying
At shadows. He would leave; is not aware Quite, of my mood...and worse a dry branch breaking
And raucous cawing shatter the still air.

A pat...the peace I know is now his own upgraded to B status, and received the new B-certificates, designed by Joseph J. Jones, clerk of the Masters of Foxhounds Association of American and long time friend of the Pony Clubs. These riders represent 34 different clubs. Many thanks are due the 23 National Examiners, who give so much of their time and help to the children's tests.
And confidence soon settles in his bone.

The following riders have been upgraded from B to A, and received the gilt-edged certificate, also of Joseph Jones' design:

Christy West of Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds; Otis Brown, Jr., of Bridlespur Associate; Jill Morrissey, of Wellesley; Sandra Butterfield, of Wellesley, Associate; Sandra Hart, of West Tennessee, Associate; Wendy C. Whitney, of Orange County-Middleburg, Associate.

This brings to 34 (10 of them boys) the number of A-ratings that have been achieved in the Pony Clubs. Looking at the list, it is most heartening to see how much they are doing with horses and riding - teaching, breeding, Three-phase events, training, helping with Pony Clubs, one as a D.C., and many as Instructors.

Sacramento Horsemen's Assn. Greenies

The Greenies, which is the world's youngest mounted drill team, sponsored an all day horse show which consisted of 13 English events. This outstanding group of youngsters, widely known for their superb performances, is a part of the Sacramento Horsemen's Association. This extremely lengthy show was rather hard on the entrants because of the extreme hot weather. Each of them, however, did quite well under the circumstances.

Wee Folk Hunting, Irish Style

One of the first things you would notice amongst children hunting in Ireland is that they come from all walks of life. Any child can hunt with any pack for a cap of about 30 cents a day, collected at the meet.

In a country where the horse and pony are still used for work on the land, a child often learns to ride at much the same time as it learns to walk, and with very little more guidance.

I have often seen horses and ponies come out hunting in brides with blinkers and rope reins, having obviously left the cart or plough only a short time before.

As a lot of the country is fenced with banks or ditches, a clever, hairy-legged horse or pony that will scramble and push often gets on very well, particularly when the pace is not too fast.

It must not be presumed that this is the way that all children are mounted. You will see many well-turned out children on smart ponies who are obviously well taught, often by the thriving Pony Club. For them life is not so different from the children here, except that they must be prepared for longer hours in the saddle. Hounds meet at 11 o'clock and go on until dark. Many children do long hacks to meets, ten or twelve miles not being remarkable.

The fences are natural and nothing is specially built. A great variety of fences must be faced, so hunting has many more hazards.

kept in those day, I stood in the ring while the judges meticulously measured this jump. The other picture I included to show that even in the days of the side-saddle we women rode over pretty stiff jumps.

A third article which made especially good reading for me was "The Fox in the Aqueduct"; not only because the parents - and grandfather of the author (Harry Alexandre) were my personal friends, but, of course, because I have hunted on the Campagna for so many years.

It was one of the best articles I have ever seen about the Roman Hunt and Anne Alexandre obviously not only writes like an accomplished horsewoman, but has also troubled to get her facts about this ancient Hunt correct.

Aid For N. Y. 4-H Clubs

Dear Sir:

In answer to Mrs. Harry M. Barnes' letter in the June 30 issue, relative to the 4-H Light Horse Program, I would like to point out that in February of this year, The Breeding Bureau of The Jockey Club came to the aid of the program and established a special breeding contract for 4-H members permitting them to breed their mares to certain of The Jockey Club stallions for the unheard of fee of $25.00. (4-H rules provided that starting next year all mares must be served by purebred sires and thanks to the foresight of The Jockey Club, New York State 4-H'ers got a jump on the requirement.

At the same time, the Genesee Valley Breeders Association announced that the Annual Breeders Show would add an extra day so as to provide a program of 4-H Light Horse Classes with generous premiums. The 4-H division of the show will be held at Avon, New York in August, and will be followed by the breeders show. The show is open to all 4-H members in New York State and is designed to serve as a prep for State Fair.

Both aids to the 4-H Light Horse Program have met with the enthusiastic support of Prof. H. A. Willman, the 4-H Livestock Specialist at Cornell and other 4-H officials who pointed out that the Thoroughbred industry was the first to offer concrete voluntary support to the program. The Genesee Valley Breeders Association is New York State's Thoroughbred breeders association and its amended charter affords opportunity for membership to Thoroughbred breeders in all parts of the State.

Very truly yours,
Joseph C. O'Dea, D.V.M.
President
Genesee Valley
Breeders Association, Inc.

Hunter Breeding

Dear Sir:

I thought 10 years ago when I started to raise Thoroughbred hunters that the real need was for quiet amateur's horses out of proven winning hunters bred to stallions with known jumping breeding, and for horses that could be hunted and pleasure ridden as well as being shown.

From now on I am going to raise more race horses and confine myself to raising a few hunters a year with model conformation.

The buyers all insist they want a good using horse with a quiet disposition that will have a big jump.

When it comes to buying a horse, however, they all go for the beautiful model, whether they or their small child can ride it or jump it, or even get in the stall with it without being kicked.

I guess horse buyers are like a boy in college or just out of the service looking for a wife. The plain girls with good dispositions who can cook, etc., get passed over for some campus queen with lots of conformation, but a lousy disposition, etc.

So I guess I will have to start raising the kind that sells.

At any rate, thanks for all your helpful advice in the past on raising hunters and again I want to stress how pleased I am at the results of my advertisement in your magazine.

Sincerely yours,
William Payne
Portland, Oregon

Col. Justin McCarthy

Dear Sir:

Further to your article by Stanislas Lynch and to the letter of Mrs. Joy Post Bennett (Mrs. Walter V.).

I would like to add that the late Col. McCarthy was one of my closest friends in the Middle East since the days of the Lebanese revolution in 1958.

We spent many hours in the saddle together riding Arabian mares in the Bekaa valley of Lebanon and on one memorable occasion ascended the Anti-Lebanon range, reaching the crest which was within the snow line.

Justin was one of the most fearless riders I have ever met - he would not dismount on even the most precipitous slopes of the Rocky Lebanese mountains and the more adventuresome the ride the more he delighted in it.

Ireland has lost a gallant officer, the world a most accomplished horseman and those who had the privilege to know him well - a wonderful friend.

Alexis Wrangel,
Beirut, Lebanon

The Other Side

Dear Sir:

With reference to the letter appearing a couple of weeks ago in The Chronicle signed by "Disenchanted", it seems to me both sides of the picture should be presented. The article obviously referred to the Oak Brook Hounds Horse Show on June 8, 9, 10 and 11 and inasmuch as I was Chairman of the Show, I take sole responsibility for the decisions arrived at. Rather than hide my head in a foxhole as suggested, I would prefer to stick it out of the foxhole and smile!

Two days before the entries closed we had two horses in the Open Jumper Division being held under the FEI Rules. A quick check with Exhibitors indicated that they did not choose to show under FEI Rules. This also hurt our Hunter entries. By dropping the Jumper Division from "A" to "C" (which is our prerogative) and contacting as many Exhibitors as possible, we waived the Time Allowed, Weight Requirements and Time in the second Jump-Off and ended up with forty-five horses in the Jumper Division. We did not cut any Classes or money.

My point in doing this is that Exhibitors are the ones that pay the tab and I cannot see any point in jamming something down Exhibitors' throats, or anybody else's throat, that they do not want, and then expecting them to support us. By giving them what they wanted, we received their full support.

Regarding the length of time mentioned in the Jump-Offs, the Show ran practically on time with the exception of Sunday, in spite of bad weather. We were handicapped by the fact that in the Junior Jumper Class we had some excellent jumpers and were limited to 4'6". The ties could have been broken by using time as a factor, but two things about this have been repeatedly brought to the attention of the AHSA, one being that it is physically impossible to accurately time a Jump-Off to within 1/5 or 1/10 of a second...and I have tried it many times. Exhibitors are not satisfied when they are beaten by this margin. The carrying of weights incidentally has seldom, in my opinion, ever gone smoothly.

The Puissance was necessarily a fairly long Class, but it had to go to 6'7" before it was won...this incidentally in the pouring rain.

I would concede one point which was not made. We probably could have speeded up the Jump-Offs if we had not used the 5 to 8" poles we did on fences, as they were extremely difficult to knock off. Lighter poles would have helped, but if speed had been involved, hitting these poles would have probably caused some nasty spills. As it was, we did not have one horse down all four days, altho several of the Shows in the area were having four to five down which primarily was due to the fences.

We all know that the Jumper Committee of the AHSA recommended that the FEI Rules be changed along the lines that the Exhibitors had requested prior to the Annual Meeting. As you know, this recommendation of the Jumper Committee was ignored by a higher echelon of the AHSA and as a result most of the Jumper Committee resigned.

For the life of me I cannot condone something that in our case the majority of the people do not want. Oak Brook, back in 1944 when we ran the General Jonathan Wainwright Stake, was one of the first Shows to use FEI Rules, which we did consistently for sixteen years. It just reached a point where people did not want them any more and we decided if they didn't want them, they would not have to have them.

Sincerely,

T. A. Mohlman, Joint M.F.H.

This should have been financial advice right from the upper echelon of the financial racket, but the public didn't take it. The double was brought back "by popular demand." Now, at Delaware, as at all other tracks except Santa Anita, OTHER people win big daily doubles and YOU read about it in the paper. (I might get into an argument by saying that Santa Anita is the only place without a double, so I'll revise that and observe that's the only racetrack I KNOW OF that doesn't use the double.)

On days when you can't get to Delaware Park, Delaware Park comes to you, if you live within radio reception distance of a station on the BFC Network. That stands for Bryan Field calling.

Mr. Field, besides being the guiding light of the racecourse, possesses the amazing faculty of knowing where all the horses are at all times, and the even more astonishing ability to pronounce the position of each equine contestant with Oxfordian articulation.

Turf Break

There are offices (one at least) where everything stops at half-past four each afternoon and the radio is tuned in on WNAV, Annapolis, just to hear Mr. Field tell about the sixth race. You might say that offices (at least the one) discovered Station WNAV because they heard that Field's voice was to be projected out over its airwaves.

The Chronicle of the Horse

Thus, persons in offices (that one office, anyway) feel like they're in close touch with Delaware Park, even though they don't get there as often as they'd like.

Well Named

When one thinks of Delaware Park, one thinks of the Distaff Big Three. In naming this triumvirate of races for female Thoroughbreds, Delaware again showed the delicate touch that goes with breeding and being accustomed to money. It would have been very easy to commit the nauseous error of terming it the So-and-So Triple Crown, a practice often fallen into by persons lacking inventiveness. But there is only one Triple Crown - the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes - so Delaware has the Distaff Big Three.

I am grateful to Delaware for this. I am grateful also to Airmans Guide, a girl horse that was a six-point stand-out on my figures in the New Castle and won by six lengths, paying $23.80. In the Delaware Handicap, she was only a five-point stand-out, but won like a six-point one just the same. Less perspicacious persons moved up their figures after the New Castle, so Airmans Guide became the favorite for the Delaware. The payoff was $6.80 which is pretty good for a five-point stand-out.

Mr. Hugh A. Grant, of Bradford, Pennsylvania, who owns Airmans Guide, picked up $104,687.50, and benevolent old Delaware Park handed him another ten grand for winning two out of three of the Distaff races.

Incidentally, Mr. Grant was working two shifts on July 29. His O'Brien Hanover pulled a wagon to victory in the Junior Free-For-All Pace at Roosevelt Raceway in the evening.

THE RUSSIANS AT LAUREL

The Russians have added a lot of glamour and probably they have been doing something to promote international good will by sending horses to run in Mr. Schapiro's annual International which is really a fine spectacle at Mr. Schapiro's Laurel Race Course on the last several Armistice Days. Last year they did right well in taking home third and fourth rubles.

The Russians want to come back for the International this fall. Only they don't want to come back with just two horses. They want to send six. If two are good, six must be three times as good. Mr. Schapiro had to tell them that the limit is two per country. I hope the two come though because they add a lot of interest to the race, they put on a good show, and international competition in sports is a lot better than doing it with guns and bombs.

Right Royal will have one more race and then end his track career with the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, in which it is to be hoped that St. Paddy will take him on again. Twenty shares in him have already been sold to English and French breeders at $30,000 each, and he will stand at his birthplace, Haras Le Mesnil in Normandy. Out of Bastia, an own-sister to a useful horse in *Basileus who was exported to the U.S.A., Right Royal comes of the same family as the wartime Derby winner Pont L'Eveque and the successful stallion Wild Risk, who sired inter alia the Washington D. C. International winner Worden II, now doing brilliantly at stud in England.

One of the most interesting features of the race was the fact that all three placed horses were by sons of Hyperion, Right Royal being by Owen Tudor, St. Paddy by Aureole and Rockavon by Rockefeller.

FLAT AND STEEPLECHASE WEIGHTS

In his comments after Kelso's spectacular performance in winning the mile and a quarter Brooklyn Handicap under 136 pounds, Eddie Arcaro said the weight was getting to the winner in the final stages of the race.

In a publicity piece from Monmouth Park the same day Kelso won the Brooklyn, weights were announced for the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap. Top weight was 155 and the lowest weight of the 17 listed was 130.

Why is it that horses can run longer races and carry much higher weights in a hurdle race than they can on the flat? Don't tell me they are different horses either, because there are many horses which switch back and forth, notably Corn Husker, Flying Fury, and Mr. John Schiff's Our Jeep of today.

Our Jeep, for example, established an American turf record this year in the Brighton Beach Handicap in New York. He was second high weight in the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap at 153 pounds. Put that on him in a flat race and I'll bet you'd hear the screams from here to Brighton Beach.

THE SHIVERING COLT

In his column in "The Morning Telegraph", Joe B. Hickey Jr. writes: "Back in the days before sulpha drugs - which is to say the late '30's, John Pons was making the rounds of the foaling barn when he noticed a newborn colt trembling and apparently near death. Quickly he summoned an old country vet from his warm bed.

"After what seemed an interminable time, the old gentleman arrived at the farm, took one look at the trembling foal, and ordered, 'Fetch me a pint of bourbon and a box of Coleman's mustard!'

"And with that Pons was off and running. Upon his return, the vet snatched the mustard from Pons' hands, worked his magic and saddled the colt in blankets. Then he carefully measured out a level tablespoonful of bourbon and forced it down the foal's throat, being ever so careful not to spill as much as a drop. That done, the vet downed the pint of bourbon and soon dozed off to sleep.

"The vet awoke to find the foal apparently on the road to recovery. This vignette in 'country medicine' has a quite happy ending, for the sickly foal survived that winter's crisis to become the sure-footed champion steeplechaser, Elkridge. The son of Mate-Best by Test also reigned as the world's leading money-winning jumper until supplanted by Neji a few years ago." (EDITOR'S NOTE: - In all probability Elkridge will never be surpassed in the number of steeplechase stakes races which he won)

SELECTED

Berta de Nemethy, coach of the U.S. Equestrian Team, announced that thirteen riders have been invited to attend the two week riding clinic to be held at the U.S.E.T. Training Center at Gladstone, N.J. August 7-19. These riders were selected as a result of a series of seven nationwide trials held during June and July.

Those who have been invited to attend are: - Otis Brown, Jr., St. Louis, Mo.; Kevin Freeman, Portland, Ore.; Wally Holly, Alexandria, Va.; Fred McCashin, Pluckemin, N.J.; J. Michael Plumb, Syosset, N.Y.; William Robertson, Darien, Conn.

Also: Carlene Blunt, Del Ray Beach, Fla.; Lana Du Pont, Chesapeake City, Md.; Carol Hofmann, North Branch, N.J.; Mary Mairs, Passadena, Cal.; Mrs. Harvey M. Spear, New York, N.Y.; Laurie Ratliff, Pass Christian, Miss.; Stephanie Zachar, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

MRS. J. C. K. SHIPP

Mrs. J. C. K. Shipp of the Potomac Hunt, riding Firecracker and leading Spray, horses which Mrs. J. Sturrock rode with considerable success in Combined Training Events this past spring, had a serious fall when her saddle slipped and she hit the ground so hard that she was unconscious for about 8 hours. Fortunately no bones were broken.

WOFFORD MEMORIAL CHALLENGE TROPHY

A George III antique silver gilt cup and cover which was made in London in 1809 was presented to the United States Equestrian Team, Inc., in 1955 by its Directors. This cup, known as the "John W. Wofford Memorial Challenge Trophy", was given in memory of the first President of the USET, Colonel "Gyp" Wofford.

Competition, which has been held annually since 1955, is to be in an official Three-Day Event with the Trophy being awarded to the winner, amateur or professional. In the years of Pan American and Olympic competitions, as in 1959 and 1960, the award is made to the "leading" U.S. Rider finishing in the Official Three-Day Event.

Results to date are as follows:

1955 Official Three-Day Event, Metamora Hunt, Oxford, Michigan - J. E. B. Wofford.

1956 XVI Olympiad, Stockholm - no U.S. Rider finished.

1957 Official Three-Day Event, Colorado Springs, Colorado - Jonas Irbinskas (professional).

1958 Official Three-Day Event, Colorado Springs, Colorado - Jonas Irbinskas (professional).

1959 III Pan American Games, Chicago, Illinois - Michael Owen Page, (gold medal winner).

1960 XVII Olympiad, Rome - John Michael Plumb (silver medal winner Pan American 1959).

RICHARD WATJEN

The July 1st issue of the German periodical "Sankt Georg" contains a leading article by its editor R. A. Abe, celebrating the 70th birthday on July 9th of Richard L. Watjen of Sunnyfield Farm, Bedford Village, N.Y. The article traces his career as a horseman from the time he entered the Spanish Riding School in 1910 when he was 19 years old to the present day. The editor also mentions an article, to be published in the next issue, on Mr. Watjen's career in the United States, written by H. Stewart Treviranus, Technical Advisor of the United States Combined Training Association.

The Chronicle of the Horse Cover Picture

One of the first horses owned by Fred Turner, Jr., was the oddly named Buggles, bought out of the 1954 Del Mar Sales for $2,800. Bred by the late Henry H. Knight, the bay colt by Rippey-Ballita, by "Challenger II, had been consigned to the auction by Frank C. Bishop's Laguna Seca Ranch.

Under the training of Frank E. Childs, Buggles raced two seasons, winning three races and $24,825. He also ran second 11 times and third on seven occasions in 39 starts.

Although he was never a prominent performer, he did help to give Mr. Turner a start on the turf ventures that were later to result in his ownership of the Kentucky Derby winner *Tomy Lee. F.T.P.

AUSTRALIAN 3-DAY EVENT

In the 3-Day Event recently held at Sydney, Australia, former Olympic riders took major honors. Bill Roycroft (1960 team) won the Open Division on Robin Hood followed by Jody, owned and ridden by Ern Barker, a member of the 1956 team. In the Novice Section, Neale Lavis (1960 team) rode Ern Barker's Felix to first place.

CAVALCADE OF FRIENDSHIP

More than 200 riders of various equestrian clubs of Mexico City participated in a Cavalcade of Friendship parade in the Chapultepec Woods Park. This was the first official event organized by the new president of the Mexican Equestrian Federation, General Jose Gomez Huerta.

Most important of all was the fact that heretofore dissenting clubs and riders participated in the event, which began on a clear Sunday morning at 11. A military band preceded the horsemen, playing the Dragon March with vim and vigor.

The cavalcade, following a long route, came to the ravine known as "Los Cuartos," (The Quarters), where riders leaped over stone barriers previously erected on order of General Huerta, who is also a member of the Presidential Staff.

Riders returned to a marshalling site alongside the President's Staff Equestrian Club, one of the best installations here. An open air barbeque was served, and again the air of friendliness and eager talk of the future, lends credence to the hope that Mexico's riders, with differences settled, plan to make an assault on international equestrian events. MOON MADNESS

Never was a June moon brighter or lovelier than at two o'clock one morning when my husband and I drove home from a party. Too lovely to waste, we woke son Clark, tacked up our horses, and started out into the bright night. The stillness was broken only by summer night sounds - a million little voices, a night bird, the occasional barking of puzzled logs - as we rode by sleepy houses.

Moonlight filtered through the thick foliage and danced on the old C. & O. Canal. Massive rock formations seemed alive, assuming grotesque shapes that towered over us. At one point the towpath bordered the Potomac River. It slipped by beside us - wide and white with moonlight.

We rode for about eight miles along this enchanted towpath and then cut across the fields about 3 miles beyond Seneca to River Road. As the sky gradually began to lighten, we rode toward home and the rising sun. It pays to do something REALLY crazy once in a while.

(Polly Adams in "The Potomac Almanac")

POLOMAN ARGO AT DETROIT

On the back cover of the July 14th issue are the judges at Detroit. Col. E. Y. Argo is one of them. Eddie played a good game at Fort Sill, when Joe Swing (head of immigration), and Jackie Devers (retired head of Ground Forces) were bellowing their way to polo offensives from the backfield, down below the academy stables on the hill. Eddie always had a grin, and has retained that estimable trait evidently. He lives about 150 miles from this shack, at Shreveport, La. Can think of no man better suited for Public Relations than he. Which he handles for International Paper.

Sill was much for horses then. Billie Wyche (Ira T.) who later became Inspector General, had the hounds. Toddy George had the jumping team, with Red Coburn as exec. Wesley White was umpiring, and went everywhere in that capacity. Listed out of Midwick. Sill won the Inter-Circuit, western division, in '30. And finally, in '38 the Field Artillery School won the same event, with Barden, Clyburn, McBride and Swing. Note - no rank for anyone - just polomen, horse-men - that's rank enough. DH

EVERYTHING ON HUNTING HORSES, RACING AND POLO Old and New

SYDNEY R. SMITH
Canaan, New York

TALLYHO HO HO!

This hunt was not the kind where red-coated riders chased the red fox. Instead a pack of hounds ran the fox at night while the "hunters" sat by a fire and listened to them. The hunt was a feature of an overnight hike by Trinity Presbyterian Church's Troop 458, Bradenton, Florida - but not according to plan. After a strenuous day, thirty boys and leaders were shut-eye by 10:30 - but not for long. A howling pack of Walker hounds burst through the palmettoes and overran tents, Scouts, and anything in their way. At 4:30 next morning two Scouts were feeding pancakes to the hounds after the wary fox had led the pack on a total of a dozen round trips through the camp. (From "Scouting" Magazine)

THE RAFFLE HORSE

After fire destroyed the clubhouse of the Carlow Gold Club near Dublin, Ireland last summer, it occurred to one of the members, Harry Ewing, that the building fund might be replenished by raffling off a race horse. The club accordingly purchased a then weanling by Panaslipper out of Court Circular, which was named Harry's Time, a name selected by 15-year-old Larry Doyle to win a 50 pound prize put up by the brewing firm of Messrs. Smithwick. A young lady who works as a chemist's assistant, Miss Peg Curtain, won the colt in the raffle, but has decided to sell him at auction rather than to start a racing stable. Incidentally, the raffle netted a handsome profit for the golf club.

EUROPEAN LADIES

JUMPING CHAMPIONSHIP

The European Championship (jumpers - for ladies only) was held at the widely acclaimed summer resort of Deauville, France. England's incomparable Pat Smythe is the 1961 winner, capturing both qualification jump-offs and the final. Miss Smythe captured this much coveted award also in 1957.

Final score: 1. Pat Smythe (England) on Flanagan, 2. Irene Hansen (Holland).

Puissance event: Helga Koehler (Germany) riding Pesgoe, Mary Barnes (England) on Suden, Pat Smythe (England) on Scorchin, Irene Jansen (Holland) riding Kairouan, Sandra Longoni (Italy) riding Dollar; all rode faultless rounds, divided their victory. M.P.J.

THE MILLER FIELD

Where Cecil Smith, Rube Williams and many another started is still going strong. Cecil has his sons, Charles and Sidney, playing 9 ponies in the making there on week-ends. In the Miller atmosphere and with their sire's blood in their veins, surely top material. That there are young Cecil Smiths coming on, is probably news to many. DH
